THIRTY SECOND ANNIVERSARY.

THE AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY held its Thirty Second Anniversary in the Church of the Puritans, on Union Square, New York, on Wednesday evening, May 12th, 1858.

Hon. WILLIAM JESSUP, LL. D., one of the Vice-Presidents, occupied the chair, and the exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. HARVEY F. LEAVITT, of Vergennes, Vt.

The Treasurer's Report was read by Mr. CHRISTOPHER R. ROBERT, the Treasurer of the Society.

An Abstract of the Annual Report of the Executive Committee was presented by Rev. DANIEL P. NOYES, one of the Secretaries.

On motion of WILLIAM A. BOOTH, Esq., of New York, seconded by Rev. HENRY B. HOOKER, D. D., of Boston, Mass.,

Resolved, That the Reports now presented be adopted, and published under the direction of the Executive Committee.

On motion of Rev. WILLIAM S. LEAVITT, of Hudson, N. Y., seconded by Rev. JAMES ANDERSON, of Manchester, Vt.,

Resolved, That we cherish the work of Home Missions as one of the great constant forces, by which is to be formed, in this land, a christian nation, not in name, but in fact.

On motion of Rev. SAMUEL T. SEELYE, of Albany, N. Y., seconded by Rev. GEORGE W. WOOD, of New York,

Resolved, That while we may properly appeal to philanthropy and patriotism, in behalf of Home Missions, we must rely chiefly upon christian principle.

The foregoing Resolutions were sustained by the gentlemen who offered them, in addresses of great effectiveness and force, which were heard with deep attention by a large and intelligent audience. The concluding address was delivered by Rev. LEONARD BACON, D. D., of New Haven, Conn., who eloquently enforced the appeal of HOME MISSIONS to CHRISTIAN PATRIOTISM. The services were enlivened by several appropriate hymns, which were sung by the accomplished choir of the Church of the Puritans, under the direction of JOHN JAMESON, Esq., organist.

THIRTY SECOND REPORT.

It has pleased God, since last we met, to visit this Institution with a peculiarly afflictive dispensation of his providence. HENRY DWIGHT*, Esq., one of its founders, its devoted and steadfast friend, its able counselor, its liberal benefactor, and for more than twenty years its honored President, departed this life on the 6th of September last, at the age of seventy four. A man eminently just, intelligent, and wise, conscientious and firm in the discharge of duty, commanding the highest respect and confidence of the extended circles in which he moved, a pillar in the Church of God, a patron of every philanthropic and christian enterprise, a pattern of excellence in his social and domestic relations, a humble, prayerful, and consistent Christian—we can not but mourn that we are to see his face no more. Help, LORD; for the godly man ceaseth; for the faithful fail from among the children of men.

A distinguished Vice-President—REV. NATHANIEL W. TAYLOR, D. D.—has also been removed, within the last few weeks, from the sphere of his usefulness on earth to his reward on high. He was appointed a Vice-President of the Society at its organization. His counsels had been largely concerned in projecting its policy, and in preparing the way for uniting the various Domestic Missionary Societies of the country in one National Institution. He marked its progress and expansion with rejoicing. He awakened an enthusiasm in those who came under his instructions, which has turned many a desert region in our western country into the garden of God. As he was revered by many of the missionaries and patrons of the Society, for his teachings and his example in preaching Christ and him crucified, so has he taught a lesson of the deepest interest to all, in his coming to the last great conflict in the full exercise of the most simple, childlike faith, and committing his departing spirit, like Stephen, to the arms of his Saviour. He rests from his labors, and his works do follow him.

* A more particular notice of the character of Mr. Dwight, and the Resolutions of the Executive Committee on the occasion of his decease, will be found on page 115.

Four of the missionaries of the Society—Rev. Joseph Bloomer, in Iowa; Rev. Joseph Fowler, in Illinois; Rev. C. C. Crossfield, in New York; and Rev. Benjamin F. Templeton, in Pennsylvania—have also been called from the fields of their earnest and successful labor and from the families of their affection and care into the presence of their Lord.

Sketches of the operations of the Society, in the States and Territories where it has labored, will be found under their appropriate heads in the body of the Report; such details as can be presented in a compact form are embraced in the following

SUMMARY OF RESULTS.

The number of ministers of the Gospel in the service of the Society the last year, whose names are found in the preceding General Table, together with those engaged in superintending the work, and whose names are mentioned in connection with the respective Auxiliaries and Agencies, is 1,012.

Of these, 770 were in commission at the date of the last Report, and 242 have been since appointed.

They have been distributed in 24 different States and Territories, as follows: in Maine, 91; New Hampshire, 45; Vermont, 77; Massachusetts, 34; Rhode Island, 8; Connecticut, 36; New York, 133; New Jersey, 14; Pennsylvania, 49; Delaware, 1; Virginia, 3; Kentucky, 1; Ohio, 76; Indiana, 38; Illinois, 82; Missouri, 5; Michigan, 65; Wisconsin, 93; Iowa, 96; Minnesota, 33; Kansas, 12; Nebraska, 2; California, 10; Oregon, 8.

This distribution gives to the New England States, 291; Middle States, 197; Southern States, 3; Western States and Territories, 521, including 18 on the Pacific coast.

Of the whole number in commission, 524 have been pastors or stated supplies of single congregations; 341 have ministered to two or three congregations each; and 147 have extended their labors over still wider fields.

The aggregate of ministerial labor performed is 795 years.

The number of congregations and missionary stations which have been fully supplied, or where the Gospel has been preached at stated intervals, is 2,034.

Eleven missionaries have been in commission as pastors or stated supplies of churches of colored people; and 41 have preached in foreign languages—20 to Welsh, 19 to German congregations, and 2 to congregations of Norwegians and Frenchmen.

Special care has been taken that those who preach to our foreign population should themselves be men of thorough evangelical sentiments and experimental piety, and that the churches to which they minister should be building upon the cardinal doctrines of the Gospel held by the patrons of this Institution.

The number of Sabbath school scholars, connected with the missionary churches and stations, is not far from 65,500.

In new settlements, the missionary, not unfrequently, has several Sabbath schools, and sometimes a circuit of them, under his care. He preaches stately in the week time, and occasionally on the Sabbath, in the neighborhoods where they are located; he supplies them with teachers from his congregations, and libraries from the contributions of the benevolent, and thus prepares the way for the organization of churches, and the permanent establishment of the ordinances of the Gospel.

The contributions to benevolent objects, reported by 528 missionaries, amount to $24,272.28.

If the churches, whose donations are not this year reported, have contributed in like proportion—an inference fairly deducible from the returns of a series of years—those who, in their need, have been encouraged and assisted by their more favored brethren, have paid back, through various channels, into the treasury of the Lord, during the year, $46,523—nearly a quarter as much as they have received.

Gratifying evidences of the good accomplished by the Society's labors are seen in churches gathered, in funds expended on houses of worship, and in provision made for the support of the ministry without further assistance. Sixty six churches have been organized, in connection with the labors of the missionaries during the year; and forty seven have become self-sustaining. Fifty five houses of worship have been completed; thirty seven repaired or improved; and the building of forty others commenced. Seventy eight young men, in connection with the missionary churches, are reported as in preparation for the gospel ministry.

The additions to the churches, as nearly as can be ascertained, have been 6,784, viz.: 3,680 on profession of their faith, and 3,104 by letters from other churches.

In but three other years, since the organization of the Society, has there been so large an accession to the churches aided. This is of the fruit, as yet but partially gathered in, of the remarkable revivals with which these churches have been visited within the last half of the year, in common with so many others in the cities and villages of the land. One hundred and fifty two missionaries make special mention of these works of grace in the churches to which they minister, many of which are described as of great interest and power, bringing persons of every age and profession and condition in life to the feet of Jesus. Sixty, seventy five, ninety, and one hundred conversions have taken place in small congregations, until whole families and neighborhoods were rejoicing together in the love of Christ, with scarce an individual remaining in impenitence and unbelief among them. The number of hopeful conversions, reported by 441 missionaries, is 4,450. In many places, these revivals still continue; in others, they are just commencing; in all, they are characterized by a remarkable spirit of prayer, and by an overpowering demonstration of the divine presence. Could we look within the sanctuaries where God is thus manifesting his glory, or could that great company of new-born souls be gathered in one assembly before us, and we be permitted to lift up one note of praise and supplication in unison with theirs, should we not feel, if nothing else were accomplished by our instrumentality, that we had received a hundred fold, in this present time, for all that we have ever consecrated to the missionary work? The relation of these revivals to the well-being of society, the education of the young, the promotion of whatsoever is lovely and of good report in the communities where they are enjoyed, as well as their influence on interests beyond the grave, can be but faintly comprehended till we shall no longer see through a glass darkly. Are not the wilderness and the solitary place glad for them? Does not the desert rejoice and blossom as the rose?

THE TREASURY.

RESOURCES.—The balance in the Treasury, April 1, 1857, was $21,252.40. The receipts of the succeeding twelve months have been $175,971.37; making the resources of the year $197,223.77.

LIABILITIES.—There was due to missionaries at the close of the last year, $7,183.72. There has since become due $194,598.45; making the total of liabilities $201,782.17.

PAYMENTS.—Of this sum, $190,735.70 have been paid; leaving $11,046.47 still due to missionaries for labor performed. Towards canceling these claims and redeeming additional pledges on commissions daily becoming due—amounting in all to $80,080.59—there is a balance in the Treasury of $6,488.07.

The year now closed opened with indications of unusual pecuniary prosperity. During the first five months, the receipts increased to nearly $8,000 beyond those of the like period in the year preceding; and the Committee felt justified in giving corresponding enlargement to the operations of the Society. The next three months, however—from September 1st to December 1st—covering the severest period of the financial embarrassments of the country, the receipts decreased to an extent unprecedented, coming short by nearly $13,000 of the amount realized in the corresponding months of the previous year. So embarrassing was this deficiency, that the Committee were unable to make prompt remittances to the missionaries for labor performed, or to pledge the needed assistance for the future to those who looked to them for aid.

In these circumstances, an appeal was made to the patrons of the Society, setting forth its condition and the immediate necessities of those who depended upon their regular dues for the comforts of life, calling upon the missionary churches, also, to do what they could to lessen the drafts upon the Treasury. This statement met with a generous response, both from those who give and those who receive. Relief soon began to be experienced, and has been coming in so steadily and liberally, that we are able to report, at the close of the year, an aggregate of receipts, falling short but $2,089.31 of that of the previous year; and for this we are indebted to the regular contributions of churches and individuals; the amount of legacies, $32,404.74, being less by $487.27 than the year before.

The large balance in the Treasury at the beginning of the year occasioned by the payment of legacies near the close of the year preceding, in connection with the increased receipts of the last few months, has enabled the Committee to sustain their enlarged operations with less embarrassment, and they trust with less suffering to their missionary brethren, than they had reason to fear. The expenditures of the year—$190,735.70—exceed those of the previous year by $10,185.26; and those of any other year of the Society's labors by $4,124.68. The number of missionaries shows an increase over the preceding year of thirty eight. Fifteen more years of missionary service have been performed; fifty nine more congregations have enjoyed the ministrations of the Gospel; three thousand more children and youth have been instructed in Sabbath schools; and one thousand two hundred and thirty four more have been added to the churches.

Thus, he who bringeth the blind by a way that they knew not and leadeth them in paths that they have not known, has made this year of difficulty and apprehension a year of prosperity, even in the outward arrangements we have been permitted to make for the advancement of his kingdom. And when we add to all this the rich spiritual blessings he has bestowed upon the fields of our culture, and which are still descending as the dew of Hermon and as the dew that descended upon the mountains of Zion, shall we not trust him, in the darkest hour, and go forward, in his name, to gather in his chosen? God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble; therefore will we not fear, though the earth be removed, though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea.

Encouraged thus by God's gracious interposition, the patrons of the Society will surely feel it to be their privilege to sympathize with the churches and missionaries, who are still suffering under the pressure from which they themselves have in some measure been relieved; and in view of the dependence of the Society upon their bounty for all it has to bestow, and of the increasing and imperative calls from the destitute and needy, will bring more freely than ever their tithes into the store house, and plead more importunately than ever the exceeding great and precious promises, giving and praying and waiting, rejoicing and giving thanks, till this land shall become the glory of all lands, because the Lord hath chosen it for his habitation forever!

GENERAL COMPARATIVE RESULTS.

The following Table gives a comparative view of the amount of receipts, expenditures, number of missionaries, new appointments, congregations and missionary districts, years of labor performed, additions to the churches, and pupils in Sabbath schools, for each year since the organization of the Society.

It also exhibits, in the tenth column, the average expenditure, each year, for a year of missionary labor, obtained by dividing the sum total of the expenditures for the year, by the number of years of labor performed. And in the eleventh column, by dividing the sum total of the expenditures of each year, by the number of missionaries employed, is shown what the average to a missionary would be, if the expenditures were equally apportioned among them.

Remarks.—1. The total of receipts, for thirty two years, is $3,456,080.82.

2. The total of years of labor is 18,871. These years are reckoned in each Report, by adding together the number of months of labor which the missionaries have actually performed.

3. The whole number of additions to the churches is 150,275.

4. The average expenditure for a year of missionary labor includes the entire cost to the Society, of obtaining the missionary, defraying his expenses to his field, and sustaining him on it, as well as all the expenses of conducting the Institution. The increased average of recent years has been occasioned by the greater number of those who have held full commissions, the expensiveness of more distant missions, and the larger appropriations that have become necessary, as the expenses of living have increased, to secure to the missionary a comfortable support.

5. The difference between the annual average expenditure to a missionary and the average of a year's labor, is occasioned by the fact that a missionary is named and counted in a Report, though in some cases he may have labored but a fraction of the year.

6. The fifth column—that of new appointments—shows how many have to be called in each year, to supply the places of those whose support is assumed by the people, the vacancies occasioned by death, sickness, removals, and other changes, and to make the increase, if there be any, over the number of the preceding year.

PRINCIPAL AUXILIARIES, AGENCIES, AND MISSIONARY FIELDS.

MAINE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Rev. WILLIAM T. DWIGHT, D.D., President; JOHN HOW, Esq., Treasurer; Rev. BENTAPPAN, D.D., Secretary. Office at Portland.

The receipts of this Society, for the year ending March 1st, were $13,142.08. There were paid from the State into the Treasury of the Parent Society, during its financial year, $35.08; making a total of $13,177.16. The expenditures within the State were $13,035.40.

Ninety one missionaries have been in commission during some portion of the year, the fields of whose labors comprised one hundred and eleven churches, and thirty towns and plantations where no churches exist. Eight new missionary stations have been occupied; two missionaries have been ordained; four houses of worship have been completed; and three churches have assumed the support of their own pastors. Seasons of refreshing, more or less extensive, have been experienced by many of the churches; and two hundred and twenty nine, at the date of the last Report of the Auxiliary, had been added to their membership; the whole number of members being four thousand six hundred and eighty nine.

This Society, in June last, celebrated its Fiftieth Anniversary. It was a season of great interest, fitted to call forth thanksgiving for the past, and to inspire hope and confidence for the future. At the organization of the Society, the population of the State was about 205,000; less than one third of what it is at the present time. The number of Congregational churches in the State, in 1807, was 87; at the close of fifty years, it was 237. The number of Congregational ministers, in 1807, was 65; in 1857, it was 166. Five hundred and fifty missionaries had been in the service of the Society, for a longer or shorter time, during the period of its labors, and all but forty of the Congregational churches in the State had been aided by its funds. Its annual receipts had increased from fifty six dollars to more than twelve thousand; and the number of its missionaries from one to one hundred. Fifty churches, assisted more or less by the Society, had become self-sustaining; and more than ten thousand souls were still receiving the bread of life from the hands of its missionaries. The Trustees, in their Semi-Centennial Report say: "Very generally, our missionaries have approved themselves to those among whom they have labored, as good men holding fast and teaching with all plainness and fidelity the truth as it is in Jesus. Amidst evil report and good report, in weariness and painfulness, they have cultivated many a hard field; and the Master has been with them to assist, sustain, and prosper them.

Many a solitary place has been made glad for them; the soul of many a weary pilgrim has been refreshed; the spirit of the fainting soldier of the cross has been inspired with fresh courage and strength; many churches have been planted, built up and enlarged. The spiritual, eternal good, which our Society has been the honored instrument of effecting, eye hath not seen nor ear heard, nor can it be comprehended by any finite understanding."

NEW HAMPSHIRE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

REV. NATHANIEL BOUTON, D. D., President; REV. BENJAMIN P. STONE, D.D., Secretary and Treasurer. Office at Concord.

The receipts for the year ending March 1st, were $6,133.33; of which $528.66 were designated by the donors for the American Home Missionary Society. There were also received into the Treasury of the National Society, during its financial year, from individuals in the State, $127.40, and in payment of legacies, $380; making the whole amount for the cause $6,640.73. The expenditures within the State were $6,547.41; and the amount paid into the Treasury of the National Society $1,036.06.

Forty five missionaries have been in commission during some portion of the year. The Rev. WILLIAM CLARK has continued his labors as Missionary Agent, and has spread before the christian community much valuable information, respecting the condition and prospects of the feeble churches and destitute places which he has visited.

At the date of the last Report of the Auxiliary, appropriations had been made to five churches not on the list of the previous year; two churches had been organized; three pastors had been settled; one hundred and ten had been added to the missionary churches; and a larger number of them, than for several years previous, had enjoyed the reviving influences of the Holy Spirit.

In addition to the missionary churches, "There are at least thirty five churches in the State," says the last annual Report, "mostly situated in agricultural towns, which find it a burden they are scarcely able to bear, to raise a competent support for the ministry. From this class of churches the Missionary Society may expect annually new calls for aid. At least one hundred churches in the State, find it either impossible or very difficult to maintain the institutions of the Gospel from their own resources. Not half of the whole number of churches connected with our order are what is denominated able churches. This is not a fact brought to view by the recent dealings of Divine Providence with our Zion. It has been true during the whole period of the Society's existence, and it will continue to be true for a long time to come. The friends of New Hampshire Home Missions may be assured that they will always have the poor with them, and that if they make not this Society the almoner of their supplies, these poor must perish in a famine of the hearing of the word; there being no others on earth to care for their souls. * * * But as great as are the discouragements with which we have to contend in prosecuting the missionary work in New Hampshire, the encouragements which urge us onward in it are still greater. We find them in the growing favor of the popular mind in destitute places towards our forms and principles, in the instances of the saving efficacy of a preached Gospel which here and there occur, and in the blessed capital of the divine promises, both to the churches and the ministry of the word."

VERMONT DOMESTIC MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Hon. ERASTUS FAIRBANKS, President; C. W. STORRS, Esq., Treasurer; Rev. JOHN F. STONE, Secretary. Office at Montpelier.

The receipts of this Society for the year ending March 1st, were $8,489.18. There were also received into the Treasury of the Parent Society, from individuals and congregations in the State, $320.41, and in payment of legacies, $1,687.14; making the whole amount for the cause $10,496.73; exceeding the amount of the previous year by $5,363.39. The expenditures within the State were $7,755.23, and the amount paid into the Treasury of the Parent Society $2,007.55.

The number of missionaries who have been in the employment of the Society is seventy seven, including thirty six who have fulfilled short commissions of two or three months, previous to completing their theological studies. The labors of these missionaries, during their brief terms of service, have been attended with gratifying results; and many congregations have thus enjoyed, for a little season, the preaching of the word that would otherwise have been entirely destitute.

During the last missionary year of the Auxiliary, the amount of labor performed equaled thirty eight years; and the number of churches and districts supplied was seventy—exceeding, by twenty, the number of the previous year; four churches had assumed the support of their own ministry; two new houses of worship had been completed, and several others repaired; churches, which had been destitute for years and extremely disheartened, had been revived and encouraged, and had resolved to arise and build; and fields that had long been neglected wastes were wearing an encouraging aspect.

The Directors in their Report say: "It is also encouraging to know that young men in our Theological Schools, especially those who are sons of Vermont, have come to feel something like a due concern for our old wastes, and no longer forget that the destitute portions of the East have claims upon them as well as the new West and the distant heathen ; that in one of those schools a company of the sons of Vermont assemble weekly for prayer and deliberation in relation to the religious destitutions and wants of their native State. The increase in the Society's receipts too is encouraging. The standard of giving is becoming more elevated. Members of the churches seem to entertain more just views as to the obligation of sustaining the cause of Christ at large, as well as in their own particular community. The number of rich men who help rather largely in this enterprise has increased, and, we trust, will still increase. In view of these and other favorable indications, we may justly take encouragement. Yet we would never, for one moment, forget that the success of our enterprise depends upon the influence of the Spirit of God—that if that be withheld, we labor in vain, and all these encouraging appearances will end in disappointment and failure." The Spirit of God is now especially present in many of the missionary fields, and in some of them there are extensive and powerful revivals.

MASSACHUSETTS HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

REV. RICHARD S. STORRS, D.D., President ; BENJAMIN PERKINS, Esq., Treasurer ; Rev. HENRY B. HOOKER, D.D., Secretary. Office in Boston.

The receipts of this Society, for the year ending March 1st, were $30,117.58. The expenditures, within the State, were $5,556.25 ; and the amount forwarded from the Treasury to the American Home Missionary Society, during its financial year, was $26,000. There were also received into the Treasury of the Parent Society—in payment of legacies, $9,907.60 ; from the Hampshire Missionary Society, $1,460.62 ; from congregations and individuals, $3,688.03—in all, $15,056.25 ; making the total to the cause from Massachusetts $45,173.83 ; which exceeds the amount of the year preceding by $8,656.20. The whole amount expended through the Parent Society is $41,056.25, exceeding the amount of the previous year by $7,721.02.

Thirty four missionaries have been in commission during the year ; and many of the churches to which they have ministered have enjoyed the special visitations of the Divine Spirit. At the date of the last Report of the Auxiliary, the missionary churches contained a membership of 1,339 ; about two thirds of the missionaries held the pastoral office, the others were stated supplies residing among their people ; four houses of worship had been built during the year ; and five churches had taken upon themselves the entire support of their ministry. The benevolent contributions of the churches were equal to 46 per cent of what they had received from the Missionary Society.

The Executive Committee, in their Report, say : " It would be a most unwise policy for this Society to neglect the wants of Massa-

Massachusetts in their zeal to supply similar wants in other parts of the land—to leave the poor of Christ's flock to perish in sight of our own door, for want of that care which we give to those who are perishing farther off. Such a line of policy would defeat its own aim, for it would diminish our power to save the perishing, either here or there.* * * * Yet, in relieving the necessities of our own little State, the Executive Committee find a class of facts painfully suggestive of greater necessities in other parts of the land. One of the most frequently observed causes of the protracted weakness of our mission churches throughout New England, is the removal of their members—not from one church to another, but from the church to the wilderness—from the fed and folded flock and the familiar voice of the shepherd, to the extreme verge of civilization beyond the hearing of him that publisheth salvation. The church which they left in renewing their application for continued or increased aid in supporting the Gospel, can make a forcible plea, grounded on the fact of diminished numbers and reduced means. And is there no force in that other plea which comes from those other members of the same church in their far off wilderness home, utterly destitute and hopelessly destitute of church privileges, till the friends of Home Missions somewhere shall supply their wants? Neither filial nor parental obligations are supposed to be bounded by State lines; and who can believe that the obligations of christian charity are thus restricted? If there be indeed a bond of brotherhood uniting the whole family of Christ on earth and in heaven, it is not hindered nor are the claims which it imposes upon us forfeited by the removal of our Massachusetts brethren and sisters to the valley of the Mississippi or the shores of the Pacific.

REV. JOSEPH S. CLARK, D.D., for the last nineteen years the able and efficient Secretary of the Society, with whose judicious and untiring labors its growing prosperity has been identified, has, during the year, resigned his office for another sphere of duty, and been succeeded by Rev. HENRY B. HOOKER, D.D., of Falmouth, Mass. Dr. Hooker brings to the office a large experience as a pastor, and an extensive acquaintance with the churches, and enters upon the discharge of its duties with the confidence and affection of his brethren—with the most gratifying assurances of successful labor.

RHODE ISLAND HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

REV. THOMAS SHEPARD, D.D., President; GILBERT RICHMOND, Esq., Providence, Treasurer; Rev. A. HUNTINGTON CLAPP, Providence, Secretary.

The receipts of this Society, for the year ending March 1st, were $1,090.37. There were also received, from the State, into the Treasury of the Parent Society, during its financial year, $55.00; making the total for the cause, $1,145.37. The expenditures within the State were, $1,728.17.

Eight missionaries have been in commission, during some portion of the year, and one of them has been installed pastor. "Most of our missionary churches," says the Secretary of the Society, "are in manufacturing villages, and have been sorely afflicted by the financial revulsion which has also so crippled the resources of our few self-supporting churches, as to give us great anxiety in reference to the support of the work in this narrow but important field, for the coming year."

In their last Report the Directors say, respecting their destitutions: "Places like those now vacant need men of large experience and high qualities of mind and heart, such as, specially in the present scarcity of ministers, command ample remuneration. These churches have sought and prayed for competent pastors; the Secretary has used every available means to supply the demand; he has had the advice and help of brethren generously interested in these vacant parishes. But as yet the men have not been found competent for the task, who could be secured at any such rate of remuneration as the state of our funds has warranted us to offer. We appeal to the Society and to the churches to tell us what we, as their representatives, shall do in this matter."

CONNECTICUT MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Rev. HORACE HOOKER, Secretary; E. W. PARSONS, Esq., Treasurer. Office at Hartford.

The receipts of this Auxiliary, for the year ending March 1st, were $7,245.90. The expenditures, within the State, were $4,653.35, and the amount forwarded from the Treasury to the American Home Missionary Society, during its financial year, was $3,000. There were also received by the Parent Society, during the year—in payment of legacies, $7,326.73; from congregations and individuals, $11,829.98—in all, 19,156.71; making the total from the State $26,402.61; which exceeds the amount of the preceding year by $3,084.60. The amount expended through the Parent Society was $22,156.71, exceeding the amount of the previous year by $2,973.48.

Thirty six missionaries have been in commission within the year; three of whom have been installed pastors. Three churches which have been aided hitherto have become self-sustaining. "As to the external condition of the churches," says the Secretary of the Society, "it is better than we might have expected from the character of the year. The hard times have disheartened none of them from at least their usual support of religious institutions, while some have increased their contributions for this purpose. In a few cases we have enlarged our appropriations, where the people from their own means made a corresponding addition to the salaries of their pastors. Towards the latter part of the year embodied in this Report, some of the churches under our care have participated in the reviving influences of the Spirit, and we anticipate that the reports for the current quarter will be richer in the record of conversions and additions to the churches. Should this hope ripen into fruition, and we be permitted to 'shout the blessings home' from worn-out wastes, once overrun with thorns and briers, or to welcome, with you, wains returning full laden from the newly inclosed and broken up fields on the western prairies, while gratefully owning that it is 'God who giveth the increase,' we may remember for our encouragement that the increase comes mainly through the instrumentality of Home Missions."

Some of the causes which protract the dependence of the missionary churches in Connecticut are thus noticed in the Report of the Directors: "The relations of the Atlantic States with the Western have varied essentially since the origin of Home Missions. The power of the latter to deplete, if we may so express it, the life blood of the former, is now tenfold, if not a hundredfold, greater than it was at that time. Modern improvements, almost dispelling the idea of distance, have made Chicago and St. Louis seem in our very neighborhood. The West, well nigh to the Rocky Mountains, and in some parts beyond, has become as familiar an object of thought and conversation throughout New England as the Hudson was at the opening of this century. Its rich soil, its boundless prairies, its gold-bespangled rocks are mused over by childhood itself. The temptations to migrate have thus become almost irresistible. * * * Nor is this the whole of the evil. A diversified foreign element, unused, if not hostile to the doctrines and forms of worship prevalent in our churches, will often supply the vacancies made by these removals. In cities and in the larger villages, where the present tendency of the population is to concentrate, the effect of this diversity on the Home Missionary work may not be as rapid, or as early apparent as in the sparser population of the country towns. But with quickened emigration to weaken and alien immigration to distract, it will be no ordinary task to sustain in a healthful condition the whole sisterhood of our churches."

PHILADELPHIA HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

JOHN A. BROWN, Esq., President; HENRY PERKINS, Esq., Treasurer; Rev. ROBERT ADAIR, Secretary. Office at Philadelphia.

This Auxiliary received into its Treasury, during the year ending March 1st, 1858, $7,977.55. The amount paid from the field into the Treasury of the Parent Society, during its financial year, ending April 1st, was $1,666.74; viz.: from New Jersey, $1,170.64; from Pennsylvania, $106.10; and from the District of Columbia, $390—making an aggregate of $9,644.29; which is less than the contributions of the preceding year, by $1,657.88. The outlays have been $8,119.85, and the balance on hand, on the 1st of March, was $1,411.44.

Forty nine missionaries have been sustained within the bounds of this Auxiliary, during the past year. One of them has been installed pastor over the church to which he ministers. No church is reported as having become self-sustaining; but a large proportion of the whole number "have enjoyed unusual religious prosperity, during the fall and winter; and recently some have shared largely in the present wide-spread visitation of mercy. In some of the mining and manufacturing districts, the missionary churches have been in great straits; and had it not been for the spiritual blessings bestowed, the missionaries would have been overwhelmed with discouragements." Many of these brethren are compelled to struggle with great embarrassments, and throughout a large portion of the field, christian progress is necessarily slow.

No one of our Auxiliaries covers so large an area as this, or includes so great or so varied a population. There were within its limits, at the time of the last census, more than 3,500,000 souls; and yet the churches on whose patronage it must rely, were but little over two hundred in number—one third of them too feeble to support their ministers without assistance, and nearly another third, able to do little more. In no Auxiliary has the Home Missionary work so many difficulties to contend with, and in none is there a more imperative demand for the highest order of christian capacity and devotion. "Its mining and manufacturing districts, with its lumbering and farming regions, in many instances, present moral destitutions as great as can be found in any part of our land"; while in some of its most populous regions the fact that a large proportion of the inhabitants are of German descent, creates difficulties comparatively unknown where the population is homogeneous. The disparity between the available strength of the churches, on this field, and the spiritual necessities of the people, is great. And although this may be somewhat reduced by the blessed work of the Holy Spirit, now in progress, nevertheless, the results can hardly be expected to afford more than a slight foretaste of the consummation for which we wait and pray. There is a great work to be done in these States. "The harvest truly is plenteous; but the laborers are few."

CENTRAL AGENCY, NEW YORK.

Rev. THEODORE SPENCER, Secretary; J. E. WARNER, Esq., Treasurer. Office at Utica.

The receipts into the Treasury of this Agency, during its financial year, ending March 1st, 1858, were $4,813.01. The contributions from the same field paid directly into the Society's Treasury were $1,732.34—making an aggregate of contributions from this part of the State, of $6,545.35. Of this amount, a legacy of $500 was forwarded to the Treasury of the Society; which, with $800 since received, and the $1,732.34 already mentioned, make the total resources derived from the field, in aid of the general operations of the National Society, $3,032.34. Within its own bounds disbursements have been made, amounting to $3,724.69.

“The receipts of the year,” observes the Secretary, “are less than those of the year preceding; but the deficiency is not caused by circumstances which, in the least degree, savor of permanency”; but “is owing solely to the financial embarrassment of the past half year. There is no reasonable doubt that, in their contributions for the coming year, the churches will be restored to their former standard, and will resume their annual increase.”

Twenty nine missionaries have labored within the bounds of this Agency since the last Annual Report; and have ministered to thirty one churches, and supplied about four thousand souls with the stated means of grace.

Many churches in Central New York have recently been blessed with a refreshing from on high; converts have been gathered in, and feeble congregations have been strengthened. Every where, indeed, the presence of the Spirit has been manifested, in some degree; while in places not a few, there have been unusual and remarkable displays of the divine power.

“It will be observed,” says the Secretary, “that there has been a decrease in the number of missionaries for the past year. We regret being unable to report, that this is owing to an increase in the number of self-supporting churches. The truth is, that with every disposition to go to the extent of their ability, congregations remain destitute of the stated means of grace; and the principal cause of this destitution is the difficulty of procuring ministers. Feeble as they are, many of these churches constitute the only hope, under God, that the pure word of divine truth will be brought to bear upon the people of their several localities. It becomes us, by all appropriate means within our reach, to cherish them in their weakness and develop their strength. If the present efforts to induce a more prompt and systematic course of contributions, on the part of the abler churches, shall prove successful throughout the twenty five counties embraced in the field of this Agency, its Secretary will be enabled to devote a larger portion of his time to his more appropriate work, of visiting these feeble churches, encouraging, counseling, and aiding them, in arrangements for securing the permanent ministrations of the Gospel.” It will undoubtedly be advisable, in many cases, that two neighboring churches should unite in the support of a single pastor. Such an enlargement of field increases the stimulus, under which the minister labors, and must often be attended with benefit both to him and his people. In the present multitude of denominations and dearth of ministers, it is not possible to supply all existing congregations with the regular means of grace, upon any other plan. And, if it were possible, it is questionable whether it were best. For the expense of maintaining missionaries in very small fields is large; while the service which men can render in these too narrow spheres, is generally inferior to the results of the same abilities under the pressure of greater outward incitements. An enlargement of sphere is often as necessary to a missionary's efficiency, as an increase of salary is to his comfort; and, in the case of numbers of excellent and faithful ministers of the Gospel in this State—as well as in others—both are absolutely indispensable to their highest usefulness.

WESTERN AGENCY, NEW YORK.

Rev. JOHN A. MURRAY, Secretary; W. T. SCOTT, Esq., Treasurer. Office at Geneva.

The receipts into the Treasury of this Agency during the year ending March 1st, 1858, were $7,421.11; and the disbursements for the same period were $7,140.45. Sums have also been forwarded directly to the Society's Treasury, for the general cause, in payment of legacies and of contributions, amounting to $10,237.56—of which $8,000 were from the legacy of the late Dea. Jabez Goodell—making a total, for the year, of $17,658.67.

Sixty five missionaries have been sustained within the bounds of the Western Agency, during the past year, who have ministered to sixty six churches.

Western New York has suffered, for the last three years, from a wide spread failure of some of the principal crops; so that the recent financial crisis affected this portion of the State with peculiar severity, and collections for benevolent objects have been unusually difficult. In addition to causes of this description, a very heavy emigration westward has drained the churches and towns of much of their best strength. In view of such a combination of circumstances, it is in a high degree gratifying to observe with what praiseworthy liberality the churches have sustained their contributions to the Home Missionary cause. As no portion of the country has more fully experienced the benefits of the Society's labors, so none has manifested a deeper interest in its ever growing work. The noble example of the late honored President of the Society—whose home was, for many years, within the bounds of this Agency, and who was, from the first, a member of its Board—was, doubtless, not without its influence, while he lived; and now that he has entered into his rest, the spirit which animated him survives in the hearts of his fellow laborers; and will survive, we trust, in all that shall come after.

This missionary field bears a nearer resemblance to those of New England than to those of the West. The feebleness of its churches arises, not so much from over hasty immigration as from excessive emigration. Most of those now aided by the Society are very feeble, and utterly unable to sustain the Gospel without assistance; and though some have now risen to the condition of self support, others may continue weak for a long time. But they are none the less the hope of the communities wherein they stand; and the influence of these feeble christian households is borne, it should be remembered, to the remotest corners of the farther West, in the persons of those who have been reared beneath their care. A very considerable number have recently experienced a refreshing from the presence of the Lord. In some a "Committee of Inquiry" has been formed, to visit the different families, to converse with individuals on personal religion, and urge attendance at the Sabbath school and on public worship—measures which have been followed with the best results. In portions of the field, the revival has been characterized by unusual power, and the people have been more generally moved than ever before, thronging the churches, by day and night, in serious crowds. Thus has the Spirit of God been doing a wonderful Home Missionary work—strengthening the things that were ready to die, and filling multitudes of hearts with songs of salvation. Denominations have frankly and heartily rejoiced in each other's successes; and the watchmen upon the walls have lifted up their voices together, in unison. Christians, in grateful surprise have exclaimed: "This is the Lord's doing; it is marvelous in our eyes."

The State of New York has enjoyed the labors of one hundred and thirty three missionaries, during the past year, and the aggregate of its contributions amounts to $39,347.96.

WESTERN RESERVE AGENCY, OHIO.

Rev. JAMES H. NEWTON, Secretary; T. P. HANDY, Esq., Treasurer. Office at Cleveland.

The receipts of this Agency, for the year ending March 1st, have been $2,737, and its expenditures, $2,452.79. Other contributions from this field have been received into the Treasury of the Society, amounting to $297.84, making the whole sum devoted to the cause of Home Missions by the churches of the Western Reserve, $3,034.84.

Twenty eight missionaries have been sustained on this field, and have preached to thirty four churches.

Interesting revivals of religion have occurred in several of the missionary congregations, during the past year; some of which, at the last accounts, were still in progress. It is hoped that the fruits of these outpourings of the divine Spirit will be seen, not alone in additions to the number of professing Christians, in the increase of their zeal and liberality, and in the greater strength and efficiency of the churches, but also in an improved tone of public opinion, and a diminution of that fondness for new things which has hitherto so injuriously affected the religious and the moral interests of many communities. Northern Ohio has suffered for years, from that fanaticism for novelties which has misled so many of our people in all parts of the country; the fountain of living waters has been forsaken, and men have hewn out for themselves cisterns that can hold no water. There is a promise now of a return, in some measure, to the well-spring of divine truth; and we earnestly cherish the hope, that the coming year may show a brighter page in the religious history of the Western Reserve, than has recently been entered upon its annals. The indications of improvement, however, must not blind us to the fact, that a great work remains to be done. More than twenty feeble churches are unsupplied with the regular ministrations of the Gospel; and some of these have ceased to afford any signs of spiritual life. Much of the western portion of the field is unoccupied. "Should the wave of divine mercy, now passing over our country, continue to roll and irrigate these wastes, we may hope yet to see them fruitful fields." The work of the missionary in this region is exceedingly arduous, and demands, in a high degree, the spirit of self-sacrifice and of faith; and the manifestation of this spirit is precisely the kind of influence most likely to be useful. There is need, writes a missionary, that the Lord Jesus "be impersonated here. These Christless souls need to see how a Christian lives." In conclusion, we may say, that while for a long time, there has not been so much encouragement, as now exists, for the vigorous prosecution of the missionary enterprise, there never was a time when its necessity was more apparent, or when this portion of the field furnished more impressive illustrations of the truth, that the peculiar work of Home Missions is what our country most needs for its safety and its progress—that the presence of the Spirit of Christ in the hearts of men is as necessary to the moral health of society, as to the salvation of the soul.

MARIETTA AGENCY, OHIO.

Rev. THOMAS WICKES, Secretary. A. T. NYE, Esq., Treasurer. Office at Marietta.

The receipts into the Treasury of this Agency, during the past year, have been $276.22. From the same field, the sum of $291.64 has been paid directly into the Society's Treasury; making a total of $567.86. Disbursements have been made to the amount of $235.41, to aid in sustaining seven missionaries who have labored within the bounds of the Agency.

The Marietta Agency occupies ten counties in the south eastern portion of the State, viz.: Lawrence, Gallia, Meigs, Athens, Washington, Monroe, Morgan, Hocking, Vinton, and Jackson—the first six bordering upon the river. This region is, in general, more sparsely settled than the rest of the State, averaging in 1850 but forty five inhabitants to the square mile, and only about 19,000 to each county. The total population at that time was a little over 191,000. This has always been a region of destitutions, and how or when its inhabitants are to be reached by such religious instrumentalities as may reasonably be expected to be efficient, is more than can now be foreseen.

We are encouraged in observing, that two or three of the churches which received aid for a series of years, have now, for two years, succeeded in maintaining their ministers without it, though with great effort, and with some doubt of their ability to bear the burthen permanently. One new field of great promise and interest has been occupied, during the past year, and the first labor expended on it has met with most encouraging success. A church has been organized, a house of worship commenced, the blessing of the Spirit's peculiar presence has been enjoyed, and with the decay of skepticism and indifference, there is ground of hope that, ere long, this congregation will be equal to the independent maintenance of gospel institutions.

On the other hand, the oft-repeated story of "feebleness" must be renewed. The churches are still few. Some have been in a declining state for years, too feeble to sustain the regular ministrations of the word, and are almost at the point of extinction; while wide destitutions on all sides surround them. In many places the people have been so long without the Gospel, that they are unwilling to make the efforts necessary to obtain it. If they ever secure it, it will be through the agency of those who have a truer estimate of its worth, and who are willing to bear, for a time, the burthen of the expense alone. Any new churches formed must at first be very feeble, must increase the number of dependents on missionary aid, and—unless the supply of ministers can be enlarged—must add to the toils of faithful men who are already overtasked. The only possible system which can come near meeting the existing demand, must be one which shall unite a number of stations under the care of a single pastor.

There is obviously a demand, in this portion of the State, for more power in the prosecution of the gospel work—for a larger supply both of ministers and of money for their support. This necessity is made more pressing by the fact, that the current of German immigration is now turning itself towards this field, bringing a formidable reinforcement to the elements hostile to evangelical Christianity. This, if not met by a corresponding increase of a different kind of population, or by special religious efforts, can not fail greatly to increase the obstacles in the way of the missionaries, while adding to their task.

WESTERN OHIO.

Rev. LYSANDER KELSEY, Columbus, Agent.

Forty one missionaries have been sustained in this portion of the State, during the past year, and have ministered to sixty churches. Its contributions have amounted to $1,741.86.

Five licentiates have been ordained to the ministry, within the past twelve months, over missionary congregations. Several fields have been blessed with revivals of religion ; and seven or eight have made arrangements for the support of their ministers without aid.

The spiritual condition of this portion of the missionary field affords some grounds for special encouragement. Many years have passed since there has been such a general seriousness, and so much attention to personal religion, as at the present time ; and we receive the gratifying testimony, that the missionaries of this Society "are among the most zealous and active," and that "their faithful labors are greatly blessed in the conversion of many souls."

The benefits of a permanent ministry are here apparent. Every missionary church that has had a permanent pastor for a number of years is growing and prosperous ; while of those which have suffered frequent changes in the ministry, some are barely holding their ground, and others have greatly declined, or have become extinct. The missionaries, amid many self-denials, are in general, prosecuting their labors with ability and success. Places where organized infidelity once reigned triumphant, are now feeling the wholesome influences of the Gospel, steadily administered ; while unbelief has lost its power, and its organizations have fallen to pieces.

With all these cheering signs, there yet remain large towns, villages, and rural communities, where there is no minister of either of the denominations coöperating in the Society, and yet where faithful laborers would be sure to gather congregations and churches. Seventeen counties, containing in the aggregate over 600,000 inhabitants, have but fifty four ministers of these denominations, or about one for every 11,000 of the people ; six other counties, with a population of 160,000, have only ten ministers, or one to 16,600 inhabitants ; eight counties, with an average population of more than 24,000, have but one minister each ; and twenty counties, containing more than 340,000 people, are wholly destitute. Taking the field as a whole, we have but one hundred and fifteen churches, and seventy one ministers in connection with our two denominations, to meet the spiritual wants of a population of 1,296,000, with a ratio of but one church member to every one hundred and fifty eight inhabitants. Of the churches, only forty three are self-sustaining, while seventy two are dependent upon missionary aid for the support of the Gospel. Many of the communities in which these feeble congregations are found suffer from that "depopulation," which drains their best energies for the peopling of the vast and fertile wildernesses of the farther West.

The whole number of missionaries employed in the State during the year, is seventy six; and the contributions to the Society amount to $5,344.56. A careful survey of the entire field within the limits of Ohio, renews our sense of the magnitude and difficulty of the missionary work here commenced, and of the importance, to the religious welfare of the whole country, of its successful prosecution. The State is the third in the Union in population; is possessed of great wealth, and of immense resources in process of speedy development; and while receiving a larger immigrant population from her sister commonwealths and from Europe than any other Western State, she had, eight years ago, already sent a larger number of her children beyond her borders, than any other in the Union except New York, Pennsylvania, and Virginia. In 1850, nearly 300,000 natives of Ohio were living beyond her bounds, and nearly 540,000 natives of other States, within them. Under her institutions, therefore, thousands of Eastern families are rearing their children, while other thousands who are busy in founding the new society of the frontiers, are under the control of principles imbibed on her soil. In view of such facts, the statement that there are many entire counties in Ohio destitute, while nearly two thirds of all our churches now in existence within an area covering the larger portion of the State, are too feeble for self-support, acquires an impressive weight. Under such circumstances, it is obviously of the utmost importance that the churches in this State remain united in counsel and in sympathy, mutually strengthening and encouraging one another, while they look forward to the day, when they shall not only bear the burthen of their own destitutions, but be able to contribute largely in aid of younger Territories beyond.

INDIANA.

REV. HENRY LITTLE, Madison, Agent.

Thirty eight missionaries have been sustained in this State during the past year, and the contributions from within its bounds have amounted to $2,102.67.

The denominations allied in this Society have never been strong in Indiana; and the population, taken as a whole, is by no means peculiarly accessible to our missionaries. The names of 150 Presbyterian (N. S.) and Congregational churches are found upon the most recent Minutes; but probably less than 130 of these possess much real efficiency. The supply of ministers is still more inadequate. "To meet the wants of these churches, and to make further aggression on the kingdom of darkness," says the Society's Agent, "we have only sixty five ministers giving themselves wholly to the work; and at present these are so distributed, that more than half of the ninety one counties of the State have no minister of either denomination, while nearly one half have no church."

Nevertheless, the Society has by no means labored in vain. All the existing churches, it is believed, with three or four exceptions, have been organized, or essentially aided through its instrumentality. The same is true of a large portion of the O. S. Presbyterian churches. Wabash College, also, was founded by Home Missionaries. One of their number, again, was the author of the School Law; and "the State owes its progress in education, in all its departments, very much to the influence of the same wise and faithful men." The cause of temperance, likewise, for a considerable time, found almost its only supporters in their ranks; and the foundations of this great reform are their work. If able allies have since come to their help, it may be doubted whether, to this hour, any of these surpass, in devotedness or efficiency, the original master builders, with their ministerial companions and successors. The history of this State furnishes abundant illustrations of the fact, that a Home Missionary church, with a very small number of members, and those poor in this world's goods, may be a most efficient agent for the establishment of the most valuable institutions and social customs.

The benefit of such results is not confined within the limits of the State, or even of the greater West beyond. For in 1850, nearly 400,000 of the people of Indiana were natives of other, and mostly of older States; so that many Eastern communities are now reaping, in the persons of their emigrant children, the fruits of their contributions to Home Missions. The bread which they cast upon the waters feeds their own households.

But while receiving so many thousands from her sister States, Indiana is already pouring other thousands into the regions beyond. Some of her churches have sent out from twenty to one hundred of their members. In one instance, three hundred persons left a single congregation for Iowa, where they founded two vigorous churches. Such heavy losses, however, are sadly enfeebling; and many communities in this State, once flourishing, are now suffering severely from this "depopulation." Its missionary churches have ever found the scarcity of efficient, pious laymen almost as great a drawback upon their prosperity as the dearth of ministers. This emigration aggravates the difficulty. The numerous revivals of the past season will, doubtless, increase the strength of many congregations, and we may expect a considerable number to rise, ere long, to a position of self support. But while so many entire counties, and so large a proportion of the numerous villages upon that network of railroads covering the State, are unsupplied with gospel institutions, the demand for missionary assistance must increase rather than diminish. In almost all these counties and these villages, a minister, of good abilities and devoted to his work, would immediately create an ample field, and would very soon see himself engaged in an interesting and growing work. The day is probably nigh when much larger demands will be made upon the Society's resources from this portion of its field.

ILLINOIS.

REV. ARATUS KENT, Galena, Agent for Northern Illinois.

REV. ELISHA JENNEY, Waverly, Agent for Central and Southern Illinois.

Eighty two missionaries have been sustained in this State during the past year. The contributions to Home Missions have amounted to $2,941.42.

The State of Illinois has been divided, for Home Missionary purposes, into two parts, one embracing the northern portion, the other the more sparsely settled regions of the center and the south. The twenty four counties embraced in the agency for Northern Illinois, now contain about 530,000 inhabitants. Rev. Aratus Kent, the Society's Agent, reports one hundred and fifty one churches as belonging to the two coöperating denominations, of which number only fifty six are self-sustaining. To supply these churches, with the surrounding destitutions, there are one hundred and five ministers of the Gospel, devoted exclusively to its work. The Agent estimates that twenty four others might be usefully employed at once. During the past year, five churches have been organized, five more have assumed the support of their ministers, and four congregations have erected houses of worship. The missionaries have continued to prosecute their work with fidelity and success.

Twenty seven years have now elapsed since the formation of the first missionary church on this field; and in this time, observes the Agent, "churches sustained in their infancy by this Society, have been established in fifteen of the twenty four county seats, and are exerting a purifying influence in most of the large towns. What would now have been the condition of the community if no such association had lavished its bounties in aid of our early destitutions, may be readily gathered from a simple statement of facts relative to Galena and its vicinity, in 1829, when, amidst a population of from ten to twenty thousand, there was no church, no Sabbath school, no Sabbath, no minister, Protestant or Catholic, no family altar, and, indeed, no openly avowed advocates of personal piety; but a man who avoided profanity and the use of strong drink, was a marked man—suspected of being religious! Such was the state of morals, that if Abraham has passed that way, he would have exclaimed, as on another occasion: 'Surely the fear of God is not in this place, and they will slay me, for my wife's sake.'" What a contrast with this picture does the present day afford.

"It is true," proceeds the Agent, "that we have received and expended on this field in five years, not far from $37,000. But let us see what has been achieved by means of this full flow of Eastern beneficence. In the first place, we have contributed, in return, about $12,000, for the general purposes of the Society, or almost one third of the amount of aid granted, which would not otherwise have been collected. Then, again, the people have been stimulated and encouraged, and have actually raised, for the support of the ministry, not less than $75,000. Thirdly, the houses of worship that have been built within these five years by Home Missionary churches, or those which were once of the number, have, in all probability, cost not less than $100,000. Fourthly, the contributions to other causes of benevolence, and which our missionaries have been foremost to encourage, are not less than $20,000. Fifthly, these efforts to raise funds in support of their own institutions, and to send their beneficence abroad, have fostered habits of giving, which, if estimated merely at their money value, are good security for a much larger sum than it has cost to nurture them." But the endeavor is vain, to express the results of the preaching of the divine word in terms of arithmetic.

The present condition of this portion of the field is full of encouragement. A goodly work has been wrought here, and yet not so great but that many places remain unsupplied with the Gospel, and many thousands of souls are suffering for want of the bread of life.

In Central and Southern Illinois, the Society's efforts during the past year have been embarrassed by the failure to secure the advantages of a permanent agency, Rev. S. P. Lindley having tendered his resignation in the middle of the year. It is with pleasure, therefore, that we announce the acceptance of this post by Rev. ELISHA JENNEY, of Waverly, Ill., one of the earliest missionaries of the State, and personally familiar with its history from the beginning; whose long experience in the missionary work, and particularly within the bounds of the Illinois, and more recently the Alton Presbytery, and his extensive acquaintance with the ministers and churches of both denominations, seem peculiarly to qualify him for the responsible employments of this position.

This is by no means a new field of Home Missionary enterprise. It was in Southern Illinois that the Society's labors within the State were commenced; and two missionaries were sustained there during its first year. In its third year, these pioneers were reinforced by a noble band of young men, who, ere the close of the year following, with true christian forecast, had founded Illinois College. From that day onward, the Society's efforts in behalf of the region have been unintermitted; and although the comparative success here attained is not equal to that which has followed its efforts in the northern counties, we are permitted to point to more than one hundred and eighty Presbyterian (N. S.) and Congregational churches, as the monument of the fidelity and efficiency of its missionaries and their compeers. A large proportion of these churches, indeed, are still feeble, many of them are vacant, and many are surrounded by wide destitutions. Nevertheless, after all proper deductions have been made, the degree of success here attained must be regarded as encouraging. For it is to be remembered, that much of the population of the region now under review has ever afforded but an ungenial soil for Puritan and Presbyterian institutions. An obstinate hostility to education, and especially to all ministerial learning, together with other jealousies and prejudices equally unreasonable, have often baffled the most earnest endeavors for the people's good; and in many places, this hatred of all that is best still celebrates its mournful triumph, in the perpetuation of gross ignorance and immorality.

Eighteen years ago, there were, in the forty southern counties of Illinois, but ten churches and seven ministers connected with our two denominations. Three years later, twenty three of these counties, embracing a population of 112,700, contained but eight ministers connected with the two branches of the Presbyterian Church; while other denominations furnished not less than three hundred and eighty preachers—mostly uneducated, and many of them grossly ignorant men—or one to every three hundred souls. Within a few years, an important change for the better has commenced. The emigration to Southern Illinois is of higher character than formerly, in wealth, in enterprise, in education, and morality. Towns are springing up along the railroads; institutions of learning have been founded; the churches have gained in strength, and, what is of equal value, in hope; the missionaries meet with new success in their labors to promote the observance of the Sabbath and to diminish the ravages of intemperance, and their reports breathe a tone of encouragement, which is an earnest of further progress. Never has the Home Missionary work in Central and Southern Illinois worn an aspect of so much promise. The time has come for laying throughout this glorious clime the foundations of many generations.

MICHIGAN.

REV. HERBERT A. READ, Marshall, Agent.

The number of missionaries in commission in this State, within the year covered by this Report, is sixty five. The amount contributed to the Society, during the same period, is $3,066.48, falling short of the sum contributed during the preceding year by $73.61.

Michigan has shared largely in the vicissitudes which have affected all portions of the missionary field, during the year, and some sections of the State have experienced peculiar trials. In consequence of excessive emigration, during the summer of 1856, and the extraordinary severity of the subsequent winter, many of the northern settlements of the State were reduced to the verge of famine; and some of the inhabitants actually perished from hunger and exposure. This state of things imposed a heavy tax upon the labors and sympathies of the missionaries in this region, and upon the pecuniary resources of their people; while it diverted the attention of all from spiritual, to temporal interests. Some of the missionaries were obliged to spend much time in ministering to the destitute and suffering; and one instance is mentioned, in which a christian mother was found beyond the reach of any sustenance but the bread that came down from heaven. "I had only time," says the missionary, "to direct her to Christ, and she expired, leaving four little children. We laid the young wife and mother in the grave, in the dark and lonely forest, where the Indian still pursues the deer, the wolf, and the bear. She was the first person ever buried in the town."

This season of distress was succeeded by a bountiful harvest, and the missionary congregations, sharing in the general prosperity, were making encouraging progress towards independence, when the financial storm, which has swept over the country, overtook them. From this cause, plans for the erection of church edifices have, in some instances, been thwarted, or their execution postponed; the fulfillment of pledges already made, as well as the assumption of increased responsibilities, have been rendered impracticable, and all the material interests of the assisted congregations have temporarily suffered. Nevertheless, the past year, on the whole, has been one of more than usual progress. Several houses of worship have been completed, ten churches have been gathered in new fields, six have become self-sustaining, and several others have testified their gratitude to the Society by increased contributions to its funds, and have made large advances towards self-support. The noble self-denial thus evinced, by some of the churches, deserves our grateful recognition. But in the spiritual results of the year's labors, we find special occasion for devout gratitude to him who giveth the increase. "Never," says the Agent, "in the religious history of this State, have there been so generally revivals of religion, as at the present time. There is scarcely a church that is not receiving the dews of divine grace; and on very many of them copious showers are falling. In many cases the converts are counted by scores, and, in some, the number has reached a hundred. A large number of young men, the fruits of the seasons of ingathering, are already turning their thoughts to the work of the ministry. The most remote and secluded missionary districts, as well as the populous towns and villages, have participated in these revival influences; and many a log school-house has been made vocal with songs of joy and praise from new born souls."

Among the results of these visitations of the Spirit, will be a demand for an increased number of laborers, and an enlargement of this Society's operations, in the sparsely populated portions of the State. Many settlements which, hitherto, have manifested but little interest in the planting of gospel institutions, and have afforded little encouragement to those who would attempt it, will now demand the early attention of this Institution. The valleys of the Grand and Saginaw rivers have received the careful attention of the Committee for two or three years; and a considerable number of efficient laborers have been stationed there, whose ministry has been crowned with signal success; yet the increase of the population of this region has outstripped these efforts to supply the means of grace. Several populous counties, in this section of the State, are entirely destitute of ministers, of the denominations sustaining this Society. Villages are springing up all along the shores of both of the great lakes that skirt the lower peninsula, and smaller settlements are scattered over almost its whole area, where the preaching of the Gospel is rarely or never heard. The construction of projected railroads across the State, and northward to the shores of Lake Superior, will accelerate emigration, stimulate enterprise, and open highways for the chariot of salvation. To overtake, and keep pace with, the material development of this region, and supply the more than forty vacant churches, in the southern portion of the State, will require a greatly increased outlay of ministerial labor, and of missionary funds.

WISCONSIN.

REV. DEXTER CLARY, Beloit, Agent for Eastern Wisconsin.

REV. JOHN W. SHERWIN, La Crosse, Agent for Western Wisconsin.

In this State, ninety three missionaries have held commissions from this Society, during the past year, and $2,370.87 have been collected for the cause of Home Missions.

Since the last Report, Rev. JOHN C. SHERWIN, late pastor of the Congregational Church in La Crosse, has been appointed Agent of the Society for that part of the State lying westward from the Wisconsin river. He was the pioneer missionary in this section of the State, having entered upon his labors in the autumn of 1851. He is, therefore, familiar with the religious history and present condition of this region, and enjoys, in a high degree, the confidence of the churches among which he labors. By the division of this field into two districts, a more thorough exploration of it has been accomplished, than was practicable before; and the efficiency of the Society's operations throughout the State has been greatly promoted.

The number of missionaries sustained in the western part of the State, within the year, is fifteen. They have had under their care fourteen churches, and have preached regularly at a greater number of stations where churches have not yet been constituted. One church has been organized, two houses of worship have been finished and dedicated, and another is approaching completion. This region is very inadequately supplied with ministerial laborers. Two of those whose names are included in this Report, have been recently laid aside by ill health; and the Agent mentions six or eight important points, yet unsupplied, which should be occupied without delay. He says: "It fills my heart with sorrow, to look over this new and wide field with the thought that so many important centers of influence must be left, for years, without the regular preaching of the Gospel, to restrain infidelity, and to convey the bread of eternal life to the souls of men. Again and again, as I pass over the hills and through the beautiful valleys, where villages are springing up, and wide fields are being prepared to yield abundant harvests, do I inquire, with painful misgivings—'Where are the men of God who will come and live and labor to build up the kingdom of Christ, where they will not build on another man's foundation?'"

In the portion of the State lying eastward from the Wisconsin river, there have been in commission, within the year, seventy eight missionaries, one of whom has preached to Germans, one to Norwegians, and ten to Welsh congregations. These laborers have preached, statedly, to ninety three churches, and at forty five stations where churches are not yet organized. There are now, on this field, forty self-sustaining churches, all but twelve of which have reached this condition in the last seven years. Four churches have become independent, within the year now reported; twelve have been organized; nine houses of worship have been completed, two enlarged, and fifteen were in process of erection at the close of the year. Five ministers have been installed as pastors of the flocks to which they minister. There have been revivals of religion in twenty churches, and many others have enjoyed seasons of more than usual religious interest. In the early part of the year, the congregations assisted were sharing largely in the general outward prosperity enjoyed by the country; but their spiritual condition was unusually gloomy. The financial revulsion of the autumn suddenly arrested their material growth, and, in some instances, disabled them from sustaining the pecuniary burdens they had assumed; but, as a result of these pecuniary reverses, and more than a compensation for them, a more abundant spiritual harvest has been gathered than in any former year.

There is, however, a wide region, in this portion of the State, where little or no missionary labor has yet been bestowed. Wood, Portage, Marathon, Shawanaw, Door, and Kewanee counties are still unoccupied. Oconto and Adams counties have been occupied, for the first time, during the past year. Waupaca, Wausara, Outagamie, Brown and Calumet—all of them populous counties—have, each, but two laborers. "Ten missionaries," says the Agent, "would find ample scope, in these counties, for their missionary zeal, and for all their mental and physical abilities." He adds: "The great things that have been accomplished, and the adaptation of Home Missions, as a means of good, inspire hope and give large promise for the future. The natural resources of the State, the intelligence and enterprise of the people, the ample provision made for educational and humane institutions, and the plans laid, on a liberal scale, for extensive and rapid improvements will, with the blessing of God, make Wisconsin one of the most important of the sisterhood of States. But it must not be forgotten that the realization of our hopes, in regard to all its higher interests, depends, under God, upon the vigilance, fidelity, and patient continuance in well doing, of his people. Thus hoping, and yet trembling, let us carry forward the work of evangelization, accounting all our labor and sacrifice a privilege and joy, as done and suffered for Christ."

IOWA.

Rev. JESSE GUERNSEY, Davenport, Agent.

The Society has had in commission in this State, during the year just closed, ninety six missionaries; and about twice this number of congregations have enjoyed their stated ministrations. Three of these laborers preach in the German, and one in the Welsh language. In the six years preceding the last, the number of missionaries in Iowa increased from forty one to eighty seven, or at the rate of nearly eight annually. The number now reported exceeds that of the preceding year by nine. One who entered upon his ministry in this State, since the commencement of of the year now under review, has been removed from his earthly labors to his heavenly rest. The amount contributed to the funds of the Society, by churches and individuals in this State, since the last Report, is $1,453.23, which exceeds by $308.28 the sum furnished in the previous year.

Rev. JULIUS A. REED, who has labored with great fidelity and efficiency, during the last twelve years, as the Society's Agent for Iowa, has resigned his office, to enter another important and kindred sphere of labor. The Committee are happy to state that the vacancy has been filled by the appointment of Rev. JESSE GUERNSEY, recently pastor of the Congregational Church in Dubuque. He entered upon his labors in October last, and has met a cordial welcome from the friends of Home Missions, in both denominations, throughout the State.

In reviewing the operations of the Society on this field, during the past year, we find abundant occasion for gratitude and encouragement. Twelve houses of worship have been erected, two others have been greatly improved, and at least six were in process of erection at the close of the year. The aid rendered to the feeble churches, by their respective denominations, in the work of "church erection," is a valuable auxiliary to the cause of Home Missions. In consequence, however, of the monetary pressure, some congregations which had hoped to secure church edifices the present year, have been obliged to postpone the effort; and others which had begun to build were not able to finish. Twelve churches have been organized within the year, four have become independent, and two others, by uniting in the support of a minister, will be able to dispense with further aid. Many of the churches, too, notwithstanding the pecuniary embarrassments under which they have suffered, have largely increased their pledges for the support of the ministry; and in some instances, the shifts and bartering by which the missionary has contrived to gather his main subsistence from his people, have been highly creditable to the ingenuity and economy of both. But the chief feature of encouragement, presented in this review, is the religious aspect of the missionary field. Under the copious showers of grace that have fallen upon it, many a moral wilderness has been made to rejoice and blossom as the rose. At the close of the year, many revivals of remarkable power were still in progress, the full results of which are to be developed and recorded hereafter.

The progress of the State, in population, wealth, and all the elements of prosperity and importance, has few parallels in history. But, although this and kindred institutions have made large outlays for its religious culture—though not far from one hundred and seventy five churches have been planted there, within twenty years, through the agency of this Society alone; yet the present supply of religious teachers is lamentably inadequate to the demand. The Agent states that, in order to do all the work which can better be done now than at any future time, one hundred additional laborers would be requisite; and to meet the demands which are pressing, and provision for which should on no account be delayed, a reinforcement of fifteen or twenty must be furnished. He adds: “The development of the resources of the State, and the increase of its population, have doubtless been somewhat retarded by the monetary crisis. If all the lines of railroad, projected and commenced, had been constructed as rapidly as was anticipated, one year ago, we could have made no approach to an adequate supply of missionaries for the new communities they have and would have created. May it not be that among the purposes which the late commercial revulsion was designed to subserve, was the prevention of a too great disproportion between the material development and growth of these regions, and the agencies provided for their evangelization? Be this as it may, let it be remembered that the same cause which has temporarily retarded our growth, will, in the end, make it more rapid. The wave of immigration which has, for a brief season, been turned back, or staid, will soon roll in upon us again, and with accumulated force and volume. The unemployed mechanics and tradesmen of the East, following the suggestions of their own prudence, and of wise counselors, will come by thousands and cover our rich prairies, and fill our rising villages with new and prosperous homes. Let them come; but let them not be doomed to live without the restraints, and die without the consolations and hopes of the Gospel of Christ.”

MINNESOTA.

Rev. RICHARD HALL, Point Douglas, Agent.

Thirty three missionaries have been in the service of the Society in Minnesota since the last Report. This number exceeds that reported last year by nine. These laborers have stately supplied thirty four churches, and nearly as many stations where churches have not yet been gathered. Three of them have confined their labors entirely to such stations. Eight new fields have been occupied since the year commenced, ten churches have been organized, and five houses of worship have been completed on missionary fields. The amount contributed to the funds of the Society from this region is $442.97.

In most of the fields, occupied by the missionaries, encouraging results of their labors have been reported. In the southern part of the Territory, the churches generally have been much strengthened, both pecuniarily and spiritually, by immigration; and some of them, by large accessions from the ranks of the enemy. At the close of the year, showers of grace were still descending on many fields, giving promise of abundant harvest. Most of the new settlements of this Territory have manifested a degree of interest and liberality, in procuring and sustaining the institutions of religion, which is unusual in such communities. Prompt and decided action has also been taken by them in favor of temperance and education—a fact which affords a happy augury for the future of this embryo State. The missionary churches, northward from the Falls of St. Anthony, have been retarded in their growth by a peculiar providential visitation. During the last two summers, a district, twenty miles in width, and extending northward on both sides of the Mississippi, more than one hundred miles, has been desolated by a plague of grasshoppers. Like the locusts of Egypt, “they did eat every herb of the land and all the fruit of the trees, and there remained not any green thing.” These inflictions, falling upon infant settlements, exhausted and impoverished by an intervening winter of unparalleled severity, have proved a serious drawback to the prosperity of the missionary churches; and must somewhat protract the period of their dependence upon this Society. A return of this visitation is not anticipated, and our brethren on this remote frontier are looking confidently for better days.

The course of events in this Territory, since the missionary work was commenced in it, has been exceedingly fluctuating; and it has been difficult for the Committee to adapt their efforts to its varying circumstances and wants. Soon after the first laborers were sent thither, in 1849, the stream of emigration was suddenly diverted from its wonted channels, to the newly discovered gold fields of the Pacific coast; and for three or four years, the material development and religious culture of the Territory were greatly retarded. In 1854, this Society reported but eight missionaries on this field. Since that time its population has increased with great rapidity; and it has been the effort of the Committee to keep pace with the advancing tide of emigration. In the last three years, the number of missionaries has increased from ten to thirty three, and more than fifty churches have been planted, several of which have become valuable helpers of the Institution which gathered them, and are shedding forth a clear and steady light from the chief centers of influence where they stand.

But, within the last year, the prosperity of this Territory has experienced another check. "The summer of 1856," says the Agent, "brought a larger immigration than any preceding season. The following winter was one of unprecedented severity. Many of the settlers, arriving late, were unable to provide themselves with comfortable homes. The extraordinary depth of snow made it difficult to distribute over the Territory the abundant supplies of provisions stored within its borders. Suffering necessarily ensued. This was aggravated by an 'Indian panic,' occurring in mid winter. A backward spring held our waters ice-bound considerably later than usual, and thus occasioned great delay and expense to the advance-guard of emigrants who had reached the borders of the Territory before Lake Pepin opened her gates. Thus rebuffed, at the commencement of the season, and then held back before its close by premonitions of the commercial crash, the tide of emigration to Minnesota, in 1857, fell far below the height to which it rose in the preceding summer. Consequently both the multiplication of churches, and the disaster arising from inadequate supplies of ministers, were less than had been anticipated. Scores of new towns are at just that stage, in which the added immigration of an ordinary season will bring them into a state of ripeness for missionary occupancy. Ten additional laborers are greatly needed to occupy fields which have already received some degree of missionary culture." It is expected that a very large accession will be made, the present year, to the population of this new State; and it will be the effort of the Executive Committee to multiply the agencies for its evangelization, in a corresponding ratio.

KANSAS.

At the date of the last Report, only three missionaries were laboring in Kansas, under the auspices of this Society. Since that time the number has been increased to twelve. These laborers have been stationed at the most important centers of influence, and have entered upon their work with encouraging prospects. At three of the points, first occupied within the year, viz: Eureka, Quindaro, and Leavenworth, churches have already been formed, and, in several instances, the principal part of the missionary's support has been assumed at once by the people. At Quindaro, a commodious church edifice has been completed and dedicated; and several other missionary congregations are engaged in similar enterprises, which, however, have been much hindered by the extraordinary difficulties which every good work in Kansas has encountered. About twenty five congregations have been steadily supplied with the means of grace, and most of them have made decided progress in numbers, pecuniary strength, and all the elements of prosperity and influence. The contributions to the funds of the Society, from this field, have amounted to only $38.70.

In the former part of the year the missionaries were greatly burdened, and their work was much hindered, by the physical want and suffering which prevailed throughout the Territory. The political disturbances of the country, the rapacity of lawless men, and a protracted winter of terrible severity, reduced many of the people to the borders of starvation. On the field of one missionary—a German—these evils, aggravated by peculiar local circumstances, were followed by a malignant disease, which made fearful havoc among the German population. Such causes of suffering, and such hindrances to the missionary work, it is hoped will not long exist. When admitted to the sisterhood of sovereign States—clothed with the prerogative of self-government, and self-protection—saved from the threatened blight of slavery—Kansas will set forth upon a career of material improvement, unparalleled in the history of our country; and will make large drafts upon the churches of the East for the supply of her spiritual wants.

Early in the year, Rev. S. Y. LUM, the first ministerial laborer sent to this Territory, was compelled by ill health to resign the pastoral charge of the Congregational Church at Lawrence; and under the direction of the Executive Committee, he has made several extensive tours of exploration, the results of which have been given to the public in the periodical of the Society. The information thus gathered has, also, been of essential service in distributing the missionary force since sent to that field.

In regard to its present wants, he says: "The whole northern portion of the Territory is entirely destitute. Much of it is well settled, and towns are springing up in every direction; but, with the exception of my brief tour there last summer, no one in connection with the American Home Missionary Society has yet visited that region. So, in the southeast, large tracts of land have been opened to settlers, and multitudes have crowded in. Johnson county, (formerly the Shawnee Reserve,) lying on the Missouri border, is one of the most beautiful and fertile portions of Kansas; but though, in some parts, thickly inhabited, it is without a stated ministry. As the outlet of the whole southern part of the Territory, it is of immense importance. Of several other large districts similar statements might be made. The importance of bringing these rising communities, at an early day, under the influence of christian institutions, can not be over estimated. No one who has not had experience on the ground, can appreciate the strength of the current setting against truth and duty. Nothing but the presence of the man of God,—nothing but the force of truth as it flows from his lips and shines in his life, can oppose even a partial barrier to the impetuous tide that is bearing the great majority on to ruin. The work in which the American Home Missionary Society is engaged is, therefore, of the utmost importance. And it is full of promise. The missionary may not, in all cases, see the immediate fruit of his labor, in the ingathering of souls; but he breaks up the ground, throws up to the light and heat the tough roots of a rank vegetation; and ere long the golden harvest will wave its welcome to the sickle. God grant that many laborers may come speedily and sow, with the precious seed of the kingdom, this great garden of the West.”

NEBRASKA.

No additional laborers have been sent to this field since the last Report. The two, then under commission, have been cheered in their work by the tokens of the Spirit's presence, and the churches to which they minister have been greatly revived and strengthened. At Omaha City, a commodious house of worship has been erected, which, before its completion, it was found necessary to enlarge. The missionaries have assisted in the organization of several churches, and have performed much valuable service in settlements adjacent to their own fields of labor. Two churches only have made contributions to the Society, during the year, amounting to $25.50.

The deep interest which has been felt throughout the country in regard to Kansas, and the question at issue there, has in some measure, diverted attention from Nebraska, and has increased the difficulty of providing adequately for its religious wants. During the past year it has received a large accession to its population, and many urgent requests have been made to supply the numerous settlements which have been formed, with the means of grace; but hitherto the Committee have not been able to respond to these appeals. The principal settlements are on or near the Missouri, Elkhorn and Platte rivers. Along the Missouri, from the southern boundary of the Territory to the mouth of the Running Water river, a distance of more than four hundred miles, (by the river,) villages are springing up with great rapidity, several of which are already important centers of influence, and should at once be supplied with gospel ordinances. Settlements already extend up the valley of the Elkhorn, a distance of about fifty miles from its junction with the Platte, and several of them are of sufficient importance to demand immediate attention. But no portion of the Territory is more attractive, or prospectively important than the valley of the Platte. It is the natural highway across the Territory from its Capital to the South Pass of the Rocky Mountains; and through it must lie one of the main thoroughfares of the nation from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast. The line of settlement has already advanced up this valley, about one hundred and fifty miles, and will move forward rapidly during the present year. Only one minister, of the denominations sustaining this Society, is yet employed in this part of the Territory, and several others should be sent to his aid without delay.

The eastern portion of Nebraska presents strong attractions to the emigrant. It has a salubrious climate, a fertile soil, and easy communication by the Missouri river with the markets of the East. Soon four lines of railroad, aided by Congressional grants of land, will touch its eastern border, uniting it by iron links, with the Atlantic seaboard. Along these great thoroughfares the emigrant hosts, by tens of thousands a year, will rush to occupy the prairies of this magnificent domain, and carry forward the standard of our glorious institutions towards the setting sun. Let the Christians of the East see to it that these great lines of travel and traffic become, also, highways of holiness, and the vast regions to which they lead, the garden of the Lord.

CALIFORNIA.

The number of laborers sustained in this State during the year now under review, is ten—five less than during the year preceding. The amount contributed to the Society, by churches and individuals in the State, is $332, which exceeds, considerably, the amount contributed in any former year. Besides this, the church at Nevada, to which an appropriation of $600 was made in December last, having learned the pecuniary embarrassment of the Society, voluntarily assumed the whole amount, and, though engaged in rebuilding their house of worship, which had been burned, have resolved to relinquish further aid.

No Agent has been employed in this State since the resignation of the Rev. Mr. Hunt in the spring of 1857. The Committee, however, have availed themselves to some extent of the services of Rev. ISAAC H. BRAYTON, of San Francisco, a former missionary of the Society, who has performed occasional tours for its benefit, exercised a general supervision of its interests, and, by his correspondence with the churches in the State, and with the Committee, has rendered valuable assistance in the prosecution of the missionary work.

No striking changes have occurred in the missionary churches of this State, since the last Report. Some of them have been weakened by the removal of members to other places, and one of them, the church at Downieville, has met with a serious disaster, in the destruction by fire of its beautiful house of worship, two days after its completion. Not at all disheartened by this sad reverse, the congregation immediately laid their plans for the erection of another sanctuary, and the work is rapidly advancing.

This church and several others have, during the year, enjoyed gracious refreshings from the presence of the Lord ; and some of them have made considerable progress towards pecuniary independence. There has also been a decided improvement in public morals throughout the State. The Sabbath is better observed ; gambling, drunkenness, and kindred vices, are slowly yielding to increased legal and moral restraints ; and the necessity and worth of religious institutions are more generally recognized. Nevertheless, all evangelical enterprises, in this field, still encounter extraordinary obstacles, and their progress is slow. The elements which compose the population are exceedingly diverse—many of them exceedingly bad. A large portion of the inhabitants regard themselves as mere sojourners, and take but little interest in the planting of permanent institutions. And those who would gladly make a home in the State, have found it impossible to acquire a clear title to the lands they cultivate ; and have had no legal protection against the depredations of marauders. All material interests are therefore liable to extreme fluctuations ; and spiritual enterprises must share, to some extent, in these vicissitudes.

These facts, however, furnish no argument for relaxing the efforts of this Society in behalf of this State. The purpose of God, in peopling these shores with the Anglo-Saxon race, is sure of its accomplishment ; and, though he tries the faith and courage of his servants, whom he has stationed in this field, yet the manifold tokens of his approbation in time past, is the pledge of his favor and of consequent success in time to come. Says Rev. Mr. Brayton : “ Could we always present the work as a whole before you, and not, as we almost always must, in the fluctuations, and recessions, sometimes, and struggles always, of each individual church ; could we show you the influence which the Church as a whole has had in recovering the State from a condition nearly of barbarism ; could we even exhibit the power which we know is exerted by the churches and incipient institutions which have sprung up under the patronage of the American Home Missionary Society, I am sure that neither you nor the churches you represent, would regret that you considered this a part of your field, and that, because of peculiar obstacles and unusual expense, you did not leave it destitute of the saving power of religious institutions. I rejoice in all that others have done, but none the less do I magnify the work which, under Providence, this Society has been permitted to begin ; for I by no means consider it complete, and I have no compunctions in asking large things still. In regard to thousands who dig gold in our mountains, not settled down where they can enjoy the privileges of a church, wholly ‘ self-supporting,’ though they prize the Gospel, our brethren at the East have obligations concerning them. ‘ Yea, verily, their debtors they are.’ They are denying themselves home, and almost every thing, to start rivulets of gold from the mountains, whose stream enriches the East. This is the result, whatever be the intention ; and is it too much to ask that the East still aid in furnishing the Gospel to communities so situated that they can scarcely be expected wholly to support it themselves?"

OREGON.

Eight missionaries have labored in this Territory during the year, under commission from this Society, and the churches have paid into its Treasury $386.39.

Several of the churches have enjoyed seasons of special religious interest, and one of them, the church at Portland, having within two years more than doubled its membership, and removed a heavy burden of debt, has now assumed the entire support of its pastor. Other churches are steadily advancing in numbers and pecuniary strength; but this progress, owing to the peculiar circumstances of the country, must of necessity be slow. The Territory itself is not increasing rapidly in population. Most of the people are widely separated from each other. A large portion of them emigrated from other frontier regions, and are satisfied now, as they were then, to be without the restraints of the Gospel. Even the establishment of a system of popular free schools has been stoutly resisted, and those who are engaged in laying the foundations of social, educational, and religious institutions are exposed to much obloquy and opposition. Many exciting questions have also arisen, and fierce conflicts of opinion and interest have occurred, which have greatly increased the difficulties of the missionary work. During the past year, the whole Territory has been convulsed with the question, whether these distant shores shall be polluted and cursed with negro slavery; and though the right decision of this question has greatly cheered the hearts of the laborers in this field, the long and fierce agitation which it has occasioned, has greatly retarded their operations.

To rear the temple of the Lord amid such scenes, and with such materials, is a slow and arduous work. It is a work to which none but wise master-builders are adequate. It will not be accomplished by ignorant fanatical preachers, such as already superabound in that Territory. In the language of one of the missionaries: "If the people of Oregon are ever to support the Gospel among themselves, they must be trained to do it. If they are to have stable, intelligent churches, it must be through the labors of stable, intelligent ministers. If they are to enter upon the great work of evangelizing the world, and of sending abroad their sons and daughters as missionaries, they must be educated for this work. If our churches are ever to come up, even to the standard of your feeble and destitute churches at the East, in ideas of ministerial character and duty, in ideas of christian living, and in demand for instruction, it must be through the labors of just such men as labored in those and the parent churches."

To provide such laborers in adequate numbers, and sustain them, on these distant outposts, till the slowly maturing churches can furnish their support, will impose a heavy responsibility upon this Society. But the Committee have entered upon the work with a full view of its difficulties and expensiveness. The importance of the field, the spiritual necessities of its inhabitants, and the success which has crowned the efforts already made, amply warrant, as they believe, the outlay incurred; and they are encouraged to continue and extend their operations there, as fast and as far as the resources of the Society and the claims of other fields will allow.

CONCLUSION.

In closing this sketch of their labors for another year, the Committee would record their grateful acknowledgments to God for the many and varied tokens of his favor by which this period has been distinguished. It has been, in some respects, the most eventful year in the history of this Institution. When we separated at its last anniversary, its financial condition and prospects were as satisfactory as at any former period. Its Treasury contained a larger balance than at the commencement of any preceding year, with a single exception. Expressions of interest and confidence from its friends evinced an increasing appreciation of its plans and objects. Every thing betokened a year of more than ordinary pecuniary prosperity. But the religious aspects of the cause were of a less cheering character. The spirit of absorbing worldliness which pervaded the land, was no where more intense than on the fields which this Society was endeavoring to cultivate for Christ. They were, to a lamentable extent, fields of wild speculation and reckless adventure, where the god of this world seemed to have effectually blinded the minds of men to all those higher interests which it is the object of this Institution to promote. From all portions of the missionary field, and from hundreds of self-denying laborers, the lamentation was heard: "Who hath believed our report?"

But suddenly a commercial paralysis seized upon the country, and the stroke fell heavily upon this, in common with all other Institutions of benevolence. Its revenue rapidly declined; the surplus at its disposal was quickly exhausted; and for a short period the demands of its missionaries could not be promptly met. At the same time, and from the same cause, the resources of the assisted congregations were greatly reduced; their engagements to those who ministered to them were not fulfilled; and in the depth of winter, these faithful servants of Christ saw their scanty means of livelihood, from both sources, apparently about to fail. But He whose are the silver and the gold, and who has sustained this cause in every former emergency, again appeared for its relief. In response to an appeal in behalf of the Society, in which the facts here referred to were embodied, its friends, as heretofore, promptly came to its help. The streams of their bounty soon increased to their usual volume ; the exhausted Treasury was replenished ; and the threatened disaster was averted. At the same time, also, the windows of heaven were opened, and on many a parched and barren waste God poured the great rain of his strength, transforming the wilderness into a fruitful field. Seldom has it been our privilege to record so large an ingathering of souls, in a single year, in connection with the operations of this Institution. And the harvest still continues. As we close this record, many a toil-worn husbandman who had gone forth weeping, bearing precious seed, is coming again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him. No former year, perhaps, in the history of this Society, has witnessed such vicissitudes in its affairs. No previous experience of its conductors has embraced such alternations of hope and fear, solicitude and joy. No preceding Report has recorded such signal and glorious attestations of God's favor towards this enterprise. No other anniversary has had such a claim to be observed and remembered as a jubilee of praise.

In the success with which God has crowned their endeavors hitherto, and in the altered aspects of the missionary field at the present time, the Committee find incentives to new diligence in the great work to which they have put their hands. Amid such multiplying illustrations of the divine favor, and of the necessity, efficiency, and self-propagating power of this enterprise, it would be ingratitude to God, and a base betrayal of the most momentous trust ever committed to human hands, if the work of evangelizing this land should not be prosecuted, henceforth, with redoubled zeal and on a more extended scale. Many thousands of christian hearts, whose prayers daily ascend in behalf of this cause, have, since the last gathering of the Society, received a fresh baptism of the Holy Ghost. Many thousands more have, within the same period, enrolled their names with the sacramental host, and laid their first gifts upon God's altar. Millions of gold and silver, then held by the devotees of Mammon, are now consecrated to the cause of Christ and of human salvation. Shall not these replenished fountains, and these new tributaries, greatly augment the streams of beneficence that make glad the moral wildernesses of our land ?

The work itself, also, rises before us in vaster proportions than ever before. Christian institutions have not kept pace with the march of emigration and the material development of the country. Hence each year has added to the extent of our religious destitutions, among the rising villages and infant cities of the Western interior, and on the ever advancing frontier. On some of these fields, where no religious culture has as yet been bestowed, showers of grace have recently descended, and they are white already to harvest. Multitudes of people who, hitherto, have been more than content to live without gospel ministrations, are now importunate for them. New responsibilities are thus devolved upon this Society, in regard to existing destitutions. And the events of the past few months have stimulated the action of causes which are every year widening the field, and enhancing the importance of this enterprise. Not only does the tide of emigration from the old world, and from the rugged hill-sides of the Atlantic States, continue to flow, in augmented volume, over the broad prairies of the West; but from the silent factories, workshops, warehouses, the overerowed towns and cities of the East, tens of thousands are turning their eyes to this land of promise. Through every gateway, and along every thoroughfare to the distant interior flows the mighty and returnless tide; while for the crowds that are already seeking homes on the shores of the Pacific, no adequate means of transport are found. If these pilgrims are to have, in their voluntary exile, the same gospel privileges which they have enjoyed in their former homes; if their hearts are to be gladdened by the tones of the Sabbath bell and the preacher's voice; if the glorious structures they will rear are to be built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone; if a high christian civilization is to attend the march of Empire across the continent; nay, if this whole land is to be Immanuel's,—his chosen and chiefest instrument in ushering in that glorious day which seems already dawning upon our vision, then must the friends of this enterprise press forward in their work,—“AND SO MUCH THE MORE AS THEY SEE THE DAY APPROACHING.”

RELATIONS OF AUXILIARIES, AGENCIES, &c.

State and other large Auxiliaries.

Most of the State Missionary Societies were in existence before the formation of the National Society, and some of them—as the Missionary Societies of Connecticut and Massachusetts—were among the earliest organized efforts in our country for sending the Gospel to the destitute. They have voluntarily connected themselves as Auxiliaries with the American Home Missionary Society, from a conviction that greater unity of plan and efficiency in action would thereby be promoted.

The terms by which such Auxiliaries—acting on the principles of the Parent Society, undertaking the supply of the destitute within their own bounds, and paying over their surplus funds to the Parent Institution—are connected with the Parent Society, are such as to secure the following objects, viz. :

First—The Auxiliary is not superseded or overshadowed by the National Institution, but, on the contrary, is invigorated and sustained by connection with it.

This is secured by the provision that the Auxiliary is the sole agency for this cause that operates on its field. It controls all appointments in the State to which it belongs. From it alone, so far as its means will allow, the feeble churches receive assistance. Thus a direct relation and strong attachment is cherished towards it, in the hearts of the ministers and churches.

Again—while the local operations of the Auxiliary are thus encouraged and sustained, its connection with the Parent Society is such as to awaken an interest in the destitute beyond its own limits, and afford facilities for reaching them. It is not only a Society for local purposes, but it is also a branch of the National Society, and, as such, has the control of all agencies for the collection of funds within its own field, and can direct the manner in which its surplus resources shall be expended beyond its own limits. Thus, the State and other large Auxiliaries are not merely organizations to help the Parent Society; they are integral parts of it, bound together in one whole by a common interest in and free access, through the Parent Society, to the great field to be occupied, and governed by the same general principles and rules in carrying on the work.

Agents and Agencies.

Besides preaching to the destitute and taking up contributions for Home Missions, the Agents of the American Home Missionary Society exercise a general superintendence of the operations of the Society within their respective fields. By correspondence and personal visitation they ascertain the wants of the destitute; assist them to obtain the preaching of the Gospel; and instruct and encourage them to develop their own means for its support. They receive applications for aid, and make such preliminary examination as may be necessary before submitting them for the action of the Executive Committee; and in other ways labor to insure a judicious and economical application of the Society's funds. At present the Society has in its employ no merely collecting Agents, nor any whose services are not required for other purposes in the regions where they labor. The Secretaries of several of the larger Auxiliaries are also the Agents for this cause in their respective bounds.

In certain districts, where the duties of an Agent are likely to be peculiarly responsible, there is associated with him a board of counselors selected from the region of his labors, called an Agency. These Boards of Agency differ from Auxiliary Societies, in that they have no independent existence, but are appointed by the Executive Committee from year to year, and are governed by rules which the Committee prescribe. Their office is to counsel and direct the Agent in carrying out the principles of the Society, and to give advice in relation to such local matters as may be submitted to them by the Executive Committee. The persons composing the Board of Agency, are selected for their intelligence and interest in this cause, and their influence in promoting it; and are so distributed over the field as to secure a personal acquaintance with its condition. The Agent of the Society is also the Secretary of the Agency with which he is associated.

These boards of counsel might not have been necessary, had the ecclesiastical bodies on the ground been able and disposed to pay sufficient attention to the missionary work, and to act as its directors in their respective bounds. But the ministers composing them are usually scattered over a wide extent of territory, and meet but seldom, and only at seasons when they are not much occupied with other business; and accordingly it has been necessary in some cases to organize agencies for this specific work. But in other cases, Synods, Presbyteries, and Associations have chosen to act as Auxiliaries to the Society, examining into the condition of the destitute within their bounds, and recommending the appropriate action for their relief. Ecclesiastical bodies thus related to the American Home Missionary Society, act through

Committees of Missions.

The American Home Missionary Society has ever regarded the ecclesiastical bodies as the appropriate judges of the standing of their own ministers, and of the wants of the churches in their connection. Accordingly, the commission issued to every missionary requires that his credentials be acceptable to the ministerial body of his denomination, within whose bounds he is appointed to labor. And the various Presbyteries, Associations, &c., are invited to appoint each, a Committee of Missions from its own members, to receive application from its churches, and suggest to the Society the action proper in each case. Such a Committee constitutes the official source to which reference can be had for information and advice, in all matters pertaining to missions in the connection to which it belongs. This mode of coöperation has been preferred by numerous ecclesiastical bodies, from the first formation of the Society. It guaranties to the churches of each denomination represented in the Society, that their respective claims shall be fairly considered, with all the advantage of having the indorsement of the body to which they belong. The advice of such a Committee, acting in the name and by the direction of the ecclesiastical body to which they belong, is regarded as the highest authority in matters pertaining to the standing of ministers and churches in their connection, and has the same influence with the Society, as that of the Board of Agency appointed by itself.

There is one limitation to this influence, however, which ought to be stated. Should any ecclesiastical body so far swerve from the principles of truth and gospel order, as not to retain the fellowship and confidence of the great body of the Presbyterian and Congregational churches in our land, that fact would cause its recommendations not to be respected, as a basis of action, by the Executive Committee.

As cases may occur in which the feeble churches may not be aware of the existence of any Board of Agency, or Committee of Missions, through whom to apply for aid, a general provision is made, that applications may be vouched by any two ministers of known and approved standing, who can certify to the facts of the case. If the information thus given is not sufficient, other facts are sought by the Executive Committee, with as little delay as practicable, from the most authentic sources from which they can be obtained.

Such, briefly, are the relations of the American Home Missionary Society to the various organs, through which the community seeks to act out its missionary feeling. It will be seen that this plan secures the united action, in the missionary work, of those whose views of doctrine and church order admit of coöperation, and whose interests in the great field are essentially the same. This combination insures a homogeneous policy as to the manner and amount of appropriations, and the qualifications of missionaries; it has discouraged sectional feelings, and diffused throughout each part an interest in all the rest; and thus has formed ties between the West and East, along which has passed from the latter to the former a silent and invisible current of moral influences more valuable, if possible, than all pecuniary grants. At the same time the connection of the Parent Society with the various associations that act with it, is such as to secure to them entire freedom in the missionary work, in their respective spheres, and an influence beyond them, in cultivating the waste places of our common country.

Applications for Aid.

Feeble congregations, applying for aid in supporting the Gospel, are requested to embody in their application the following particulars, viz. :

The name of the church or congregation; the number of communicants, and the average number of attendants on public worship; the denomination and size of congregations immediately contiguous, with the distance to their places of worship; the total amount of salary which the applicants propose to make up, the portion of that salary which they pledge for the given time, and the arrangements that are made for securing it; whether aid is expected from any other source; and the least amount that will suffice from this Society; whether the minister for whom a commission is desired, is the pastor of the church, or if not, whether any arrangements are made or contemplated in the course of the year, with reference to his installment. These statements should be signed by the trustees and elders or deacons, or by a committee of the congregation, and confirmed by the certificates of two or more clergymen, acquainted with the facts. Also,

The name and post-office address of the minister whose services they desire to secure; whether he is a resident of the place in which he preaches, and is engaged in any other calling than that of the ministry; his credentials; and the certificate of two or more ministers of known standing, as to his general character for piety, zeal, and acceptableness, as a minister of the Gospel.

Where the ecclesiastical body with which a church is connected has a "Committee of Missions" to act in their behalf, this Committee are the proper persons to certify the statements of the church, the standing of the minister, and his prospects of usefulness in the place where his services are desired; and the application should be sent to them for their indorsement and recommendation.

Applications, after being properly indorsed and recommended, should be addressed to the care of the Agent (or Secretary of the Agency or Auxiliary) for the region where the applicants reside.

As a general rule, the appropriations of the American Home Missionary Society are for twelve months from the date of the application; at the end of which, if further aid be needed, a new application must be made, containing all the particulars above stated, and indorsed and recommended in like manner. And each congregation applying for renewed aid, should furnish, in addition to other testimonials, the certificate of the missionary, that they have fulfilled their previous pledges for his support.

The address of the Society's Agents and the Secretaries of its Auxiliaries will be found on the cover of its Reports and of the Home Missionary. Where no such medium of communication with the Society exists, applications may be sent directly to the Society's office in New York.

ADDRESSES

At the Thirty Second Anniversary.

Address of Rev. William S. Leavitt, of Hudson, N. Y.,

ON MOVING THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTION:

RESOLVED: That we cherish the work of Home Missions as one of the great constant forces, by which is to be formed in this land a Christian nation, not in name, but in fact.

It seems to me, sir, a matter of rejoicing that we can not become a Christian nation in name, till we are so in fact. For it is evident that we never can take this position by act of Congress declaring, or by a constitutional provision recognizing Christianity as the established religion of the country. It is sometimes spoken of with regret, that our constitutions are silent upon this matter, and do not commit us to Christianity, or hinder us from adopting any system of religion we please. And sometimes it is charged upon us by way of reproach, that we are a godless people, that we have no national law and no national religion, because we do not recognize or profess Christianity by our forms of law. We are not made Christians as the people of European countries are, by legal enactments. Our public officers take upon them no obligation to maintain the christian religion. And there is nothing in the Constitution to prevent us from electing a Mohammedan to the Presidential chair; and there is nothing to prevent him from declaring in his inaugural, that the great principles of religion which Mohammed taught shall be the guides and counselors of his life, and taking his oath of office on the Koran.

Now, sir, I do not think this is a just cause of reproach to us. I do not even think it is to be regretted. It may be well for us, that we can not manifest any more Christianity than we really have. There is no proof in the experience of other nations, that Christianity has gained any credit by the indorsements of kings; or that acts of parliaments which established it have increased at all its living force. There is not a little truth in the words of Macaulay: "The whole history of the christian religion shows that she is in far greater danger of being corrupted by the alliance of power, than of being crushed by its opposition. Those who thrust temporal sovereignty upon her, treat her as their prototypes treated her Author. They bow the knee, and spit upon her; they cry, hail! and smite her on the cheek; they put a scepter into her hands, but it is a fragile reed; they crown her, but it is with thorns; they cover with purple the wounds which their own hands have inflicted upon her, and inscribe magnificent titles over the cross on which they have fixed her to perish in ignominy and pain."

We may even find a comfort in the thought that the absence of any national profession of christian faith has spared us in the past, and may save us in the future, from some painful hypocrisies. There are some things which, if they must be done, we prefer to have accomplished by men who do not bear the name of Christ. We have far less disgust for Pontius Pilate than for Judas. There are some transactions which we do not wish to have covered with a christian profession. We do not want to see a cross on the flag of a slave-ship. We do not want to see a spire in the place where its cargo is landed and sold.

If then, we can not, as a nation, come into the church on a profession of our faith, plainly there is but one course left to us, and that a far better one. We can become a christian people, known, acknowledged, proved to be such, only by causing the principles of Christianity to pervade all the departments of our national life. No legislative enactments could accomplish this. If Congress to-day should unanimously resolve that we are a Christian people, that would not make us better or more Christlike to-morrow; nor under present circumstances, would it confer upon the Gospel any additional honor. There would be absolutely nothing gained by putting on the form of godliness while the power of it was not here. There is a vision of some pilgrims in the nineteenth century, who found many things changed since Bunyan wrote his guide-book of the path. Among others, after ascending the Hill Difficulty, they came to a magnificent edifice where they supposed the House Beautiful to be. The lions were missing; but in their place, and to assure pilgrims of the identity of the house, a sign had been put up, inscribed in large letters, "The House Beautiful for the entertainment of pilgrims." The porter had the name, "Watchful," written on his forehead; and that there might be no mistake, the ladies of the house—Piety, Prudence, Charity—had each her name in her forehead, in capital letters. The wonder why it was necessary for the House Beautiful to have a sign, or for Piety, Prudence, and Charity to wear labels, soon ripened into the conviction that this was one of the traps for pilgrims in the nineteenth century, when the sign was made a substitute for the thing signified, and the name and profession of religion for the fact.

And so, sir, we can not make ourselves a christian nation by putting up a sign, or by putting on a label. What we need is, christian principle ruling in all the forms and activities of our life, Christ acknowledged as the Lord of all, the deep, practical conviction that all things belong to Christ, and that we in all our times and in all our deeds belong to him. There is a great work implied in this, a work which is far from being finished yet; and we should not rest or be satisfied with a state of things that comes short of this. We have been rejoicing, of late, that in all our cities and villages prayer meetings have been maintained, in the very centers of business, and in the most crowded thoroughfares of commercial activity. We have been glad that thanksgiving and the voice of melody were so intermingled with the eager voices of traffic. But we want Christianity to come yet closer to our business life, and to be mingled with it still more intimately than this. And we can not forget that there are lands and cities where the whole population stops its toil, and hastens to bend in idolatrous worship before the consecrated bread, as often as it is borne along the streets; and that there are other lands where, as the call to prayers is heard from the minarets at noonday, the merchant arrests his unfinished bargain, the porter lays his burden down, and all, whatever their employment, turn from it instantly to pray. Nor can we forget that both Christian and Moslem rush back, with hearts unpurified from the lust of gain, with evil purposes unsubdued and unrepented of, to complete the fraud, the overreaching, the knavery, which were suspended, but not cast out by the prayer. We want something more than this to make us a christian nation in fact. We want, not only prayer amid the places of business, but christian principle in the business itself. And when the business of this land, in city, and town, and village, shall be conducted according to the laws of Christ, controlled and regulated by a christian spirit, then, sir, we shall need no proclamation to tell the world that we are a christian people.

We have rejoiced, that in our seats of government and legislation, prayer meetings have been established. But that is not enough. We want a still more vital force of Christianity to enter those very scenes from which so many have been anxious to shut religion entirely out; we want a force that shall arouse the conscience and purify the heart of the men, on whom are resting the responsibilities of law-making and law-enforcing power, and make them fear God and serve God in their public, and official, and political deeds—a force that shall banish forever those hideous forms of corruption, which have so long defiled our political life and destroyed the faith of many in free institutions, a force which shall make our public men really believe that, whoever may be chosen to office by the people of this land, Jesus Christ is the King of it; that the principles of Christ are the only foundation of true statesmanship and public welfare; and that all who hold office hold it under him, and must give to him their account. We shall become a christian nation, not by act of Congress, but in our acts of Congress, when this is done.

We have lately welcomed the coming in of religion as a topic of conversation into all social circles with unwonted freedom. We have rejoiced that the nervous hesitation and dread, which so often attended the subject of personal religion, seem to have disappeared; and that all classes have been more than usually free to utter their honest thoughts upon the highest of all themes. We have hailed it as a sign of progress, and as a pledge of still greater improvement yet to come. But that is not enough. We want the ethics of Christ to become the law of society, binding all its castes and classes together in that brotherhood of which Jesus spoke and for which he prayed, purifying it of those low and evil principles, over whose prevalence we have mourned so long, superseding the complaints and the work of infidel socialists, by giving experimental proof that Christianity is the best and truest socialism, and that only by the laws and in the spirit of Christ, can society attain a healthy and harmonious organic life. And it must be something more than talk, than free conversation on religious topics, that will bring us to this state and make us a christian people in our social life.

We want Christianity to pervade and fill the nation with a regenerated life, whose outflowings shall be spontaneous, which shall not only profess but prove its presence every where. We need this, to accomplish among the nations the work which we have believed God gave our fathers to do, and which from them has come down, a heritage of labor and influence, to us. For we have believed, that, in a peculiar sense, this nation was to be the light of the world, a missionary people—that there were elements of character which gave us peculiar advantages, and therefore also responsibilities for this work. And if we have been losing this faith, of late, because of any spots of corruption that seemed to be spreading through our christian character, still we have not been willing to give it up. But if we ever do this work, it must be with far more of energy and heart than we have yet shown. We want Christianity to be so intermingled with our life that, in our missionary operations, we shall not merely gather up, with great toil and difficulty, a little of our Christianity and send it abroad to convert the world—met and counteracted as it is, by other and evil influences, going out from us in a full tide, and by rumors which can not be hushed, of strange and horrible inconsistencies at home—but so that the very life of the nation shall be missionary in its spirit and workings, its christian character manifesting itself so freely, that every point of contact with other nations shall reveal it. And as the restless enterprise and the growing commerce of our people are constantly multiplying these points of contact, until soon there shall not be a tribe on earth which has not formed its idea of us from what it has seen, so we want that our missionary power—the acting out of a consistent and all-pervading home christian life—shall be always increasing, until our distinctively foreign missionary efforts shall be but one item in the whole work, but one ray in the broad beam of christian light that goes out from this land, to pierce, at ten thousand points, the darkness of the world.

This is what we want; a nation thus moulded and inspired by the Gospel of Christ. For this we labor. And the religious awakening now present among us, so far as it means what is of real worth, means progress in this direction. Here should be its fruits. Here, certainly, is its test.

Now, sir, it is plain, that a nation thus christianized throughout, so as to need no profession of its faith—the fact speaking for itself—must be the result of constant forces. It can not be accomplished in a day. It can not be the fruit of any intermitted or spasmodic efforts. From its very nature, it must come by a process of growth. It is true we are told in Scripture that, under some conditions, a nation shall be born in a day. But whatever this may mean, there is no promise that such a nation shall reach its christian manhood in a day. That principle of leaven which Christ announseed as the fundamental law of his kingdom, is the only one on which we can rest our faith and hope. There is no promise that the forces of christian truth, and the grace of God acting with them, and without which they are powerless, there is no promise that they shall work, except as they have done from the beginning—the mustard seed slowly but always growing up into a tree—the leaven spreading itself through the mass, by a law that admits of no interruption till the whole is leavened, and the real progress that is accomplished, one that can not be seen or measured by spaces so brief as days or months.

It is here then, sir, we see the value of the Home Missionary work, and especially that method of it which has been from the beginning the ideal of this Society—the object being not to carry on an itincrant or an occasional work, but to establish a constant force; the incorporating of christian institutions and teachings into the life of all our growing communities. This, above all things, is what the nation needs—a permanent influence of truth in every place, the laws and teaching of Christ applied to all the departments of human activity, and to all the varying scenes of human life, the truth not uttered merely once or twice by a stranger's voice, and then left to bear what fruit it may, but dwelling there as a leaven, making the home and soeial life, pure, holy, orderly, cultivating the human sympathies and training them into a christian brotherhood, planting the seeds of righteousness in the individual soul, and watching through all the summers and winters of their growth, and so making every place where this Home Missionary work is done a living portion of the nation's ehristian life. It is this constant force—the permanent existence of ehristian ordinances—the regular proclamation of christian truth, carried on through encouragement and discouragement, through success and seeming failure, never wearied—a true vital force, that sustains many and varied forms of activity but never ceases to work—training the population from their childhood, to hear with reverence the word of God, and to watch its bearings upon the duties and scenes of life—it is this alone, which must form in this land a christian nation, not in name, but in fact.

And, sir, there is a comfort in the thought, that the power of this work is not to be measured by any sudden results, or by any momentary appearances of success. These do not begin to show us all it has done. It is the nature of a constant force, not to manifest all its fruits at once. We must measure the work as we do the growth of a tree—comparing the present with the past, and taking for the comparison intervals of time long enough to reveal the slow but certain operations of a vital force. Our encouragement is not a matter of sight but of faith. We who cherish and contribute to the work, they who direct its details, and they carry it on, amid obstacles, and weariness, and privations, whose recital often saddens our hearts—all persevere in it, not mainly because we can see its precious fruits in the very proecess of ripening, but because we have a faith in the purposes of God, in the tendency of his truth, in the testimony of the past, in his promises of the future.

Let us work on, sir, till our work is done—till in every town and village of our growing country, Christianity has become a permanent, self-sustaining, living fact, and the fruits of it shall appear in the reality of a ehristian people, transformed and purified through all its being by the spirit of Christ.

And when we look at this result for which we labor—when we think of the glory that shall fill this land and radiate from it, when a christian nation in truth is dwelling here, how trifling seem all our sectarian differences, how frivolous our efforts for mere denominational increase, and how all our questions of church government and ecclesiastical forms sink into nothingness, before that far greater question which God is calling this Society and every one of us to answer, Shall this be a CHRISTIAN NATION? What is your church government or mine to this grand reality?

May no denominational jealousies hinder the work. May no agitation of that question, apostolic in history but not in spirit, "Which shall be the greatest?" distract the counsels of this Society, or waste the resources of its beneficent toil. May that new sentiment of christian union which has been among the chiefest facts in the late awakening, prove itself a real growth of that love of Christ's disciples one to another, by which all men shall know that they are his.

Address of Rev. Samuel T. Seelye, of Albany, N. Y.,

ON MOVING THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTION :

RESOLVED, That while we may properly appeal to philanthropy and patriotism in behalf of Home Missions, we must rely chiefly upon christian principle.

The philanthropist can not consistently refuse to sustain the institutions of the Gospel. For it is to their influence that we are indebted for our choicest temporal blessings. There is nothing like Christianity to check crime, to drive away wretchedness, to make each home a paradise, and to fill every heart with gladness. Mere philanthropy only alleviates—Christianity cures.

The patriot may also be expected to extend the influence of the Gospel. For it is the author and the preserver of all that is valuable in the State. It alone teaches the rights both of the sovereign and the subject, and shows that these are never in conflict. Nowhere save under its influence, is the government clothed with authority and honor, while at the same time the interests of the governed are carefully maintained. The right of kings to rule, and the right of the few to trample upon the many, are all the rights which false religion or mere civilization have ever guaranteed. The idea that every man has an inalienable right to liberty as a citizen of the State, has never been conceived except as Christianity has taught it. The tendency always has been and always will be to build up one system of oppression after another, save where the Bible teaches the glorious truth, that man, in whatever clime he dwells, has a God-given right to be free. A free constitution without the sanctions of the Bible, can become only an instrument in the hands of tyrants.

For these reasons, we may properly appeal to the philanthropist and the patriot to aid us in bringing the whole land under the power of the Gospel. But we can not rely upon them, either solely or chiefly, to carry forward this work. They have not chosen it as their work, they feel no responsibility for its accomplishment, and, more than all, they have no sympathy with its great object. They value the Gospel for the blessings which it confers in the present life. They prize it for the industry and thrift which it fosters, and for the love of liberty which it enkindles. With those eternal realities which it reveals, and with those hopes of eternal glory which it awakens, they have no concern. Yet who supposes that the Gospel could be kept alive, merely for the sake of its incidental blessings, however precious they may be? What missionary would undertake to proclaim its truths either in our western wilds or in heathen lands, simply because they tended to quicken the progress of civilization and to give justice, and therefore stability to the government? Who, indeed, does not see, that the power of the Gospel to dispense these temporal blessings, is derived from its power to provide for the eternal interests of the soul? The Gospel can never become the mere coadjutor of philanthropy and patriotism. It must be sustained for the sake of its great fundamental truth, or it will not be sustained at all.

Upon what, then, must we chiefly rely to carry forward the work in which we are engaged? The ordinary motives which urge men to effort are rendered powerless by the vastness of the work. It is our aim to secure the preaching of the Gospel throughout the land, wherever it will be received. We are to see, that these sanctuaries where our fathers worshiped are not left desolate—that the sacred truths which taught them the way to heaven are still proclaimed in the same temples of God. We are also to see, that, as the members of these flocks become scattered, they shall still be followed by the shepherd and kept together in the fold. It is our work to send faithful men of God who will preach the whole Gospel, wherever throughout the land a congregation can be gathered to listen to the truth. Yet although this is a mightier task than any of which the philanthropist and the patriot ever conceived, we may, without fear of disappointment, appeal to christian principle to carry it on. If we choose to rely upon it alone, we shall not fail. While without it, success is impossible, with it, success is sure. Our success also would be purchased without the loss of a single blessing. For christian principle goes far beyond philanthropy and patriotism in their own spheres. It embraces the world with love, and stands up for the right to the last, with no thought of submission or compromise. It removes every form of suffering. It stops the cry of want, and goes with the swiftness and the tenderness of fraternal love to each sorrowing one. Philanthropy, moreover, may grow weary and patriotism be exhausted, but christian principle can not be overtaken. The philanthropist also may fail of his object, and the patriot may see every hope wrecked and die in despair. But the Christian is never vanquished—he is always a conqueror. If he falls at his post, it is with the victor's crown in his grasp and with the prayer on his lips which he knows will be answered, Thy kingdom come, thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven.

There are however two sufficient reasons for relying upon christian principle to carry forward this Home Missionary work.

First: Because it gives the only foundation for any successful effort to bless the race. It is possible that one of a company of condemned criminals may feel the deepest sympathy for his companions. In pitying their sad fate he may sometimes forget that he is himself to suffer the same doom. Yet with his hands manacled like theirs, and watched with the same vigilance by the officers of the law, what can he do to aid them? In order to move the government to pardon, or incite the citizens to a rescue, he must stand out from that company of convicts. To make an effort there can only add to their punishment.

Suppose that by some great calamity a hundred men were cast into the sea without a single spar or plank to cling to. Suppose that two or three of this number, moved by sympathy, should try to save the others, what would be the result? Every effort could only hasten the inevitable death. But suppose that one man of that company is able to gain some rock and stand upon it, from which, by reaching out the hand, he can lay hold of those drowning men—then he can save them all. So it is with every effort which is designed to bless the race. It is not enough that it be prompted by the purest sympathy. To be successful, it must rest upon a true and firm foundation. Without this, it is as useless as a lever without a fulcrum. Where then shall we find this foundation for effort which is essential to success? Christian principle alone affords it. It places its possessor upon the rock from which he can stretch out his hand to rescue the perishing. For christian principle may be defined to be, standing upon the Rock Christ Jesus. He who stands there feels that he is safe himself and that none are imperiled by his efforts. How firm a foundation for successful effort is thus afforded to the Christian! It inspires him with hope in every struggle—it gives him faith in every prayer—it enables him to feel that the service of a life-time is easy and the burden of saving the world is light. In this point of view it is not strange that Jesus Christ gave to his disciples that great commission, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature;" for standing upon such a foundation they are competent to the mighty task. It is safe therefore to rely upon such men to bring the land under the influence of the Gospel.

Again, another reason for relying upon christian principle to carry forward the work of Home Missions is, that it appreciates the Gospel. A single illustration will show the importance of this truth. A few years ago, in a violent storm, a ship was driven upon the bar on the south shore of Long Island. The waves swept over the deck, and the crew clung for safety to the rigging. Upon the shore, a company of men were gathered who stood motionless by the life-boat which they had dragged to the beach. They were appalled by the danger, and felt that it would be certain death to venture out upon such a sea. Suddenly, a man who had once been a sailor rushed down to the beach, took his place by the boat, and shouted, "Come men, lend a hand—I've been there myself!" That appeal was enough. The life-boat shot forth among the foaming breakers on its merciful, though perilous mission, and the crew were saved. That sailor had experienced a similar peril—he had felt the joy of rescue, and was ready to hazard his life to carry the same boon to those shipwrecked men. So the Christian, because of his experimental appreciation of the worth of the Gospel, labors successfully to extend its blessings when other men would yield to despair. He has seen, flaming up before him, the wrath of an offended God; and he has felt the embrace of a loving Father as he forgave and welcomed the returning prodigal. He was once in the horrible pit and the miry clay, and now his feet are planted upon the rock. His soul was once famishing and faint, and now he feels that he shall hunger no more—he shall thirst no more. Once he was without hope and without God in the world, and now he rejoices in the anticipation of eternal glory, and is able to look up to God and say, Abba, Father! Can such an one grow weary, or be disheartened, or shrink from danger in striving to extend the influence of the Gospel? Never! He who thus appreciates the worth of the Gospel, will not fail to proclaim its glad news of salvation. Knowing the terror of the Lord, he will not cease to persuade men. Constrained to effort by the love of Christ, he will go on in his divinely-appointed work so long as that love glows in his heart. And can that love ever be extinguished? "Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

It is safe, then, to trust the cause of Home Missions, with all its amazing interests, to christian principle. We need not make a single appeal in its behalf to selfish interest. Christian men, with united heart and united effort, animating each other's zeal, and strengthening each other's faith, will carry it on. What though long centuries may pass before this work shall be accomplished? It is enough to know that it shall be done. The workman who is to-day laying the foundation of some vast structure which shall require the time, and wealth, and toil of generations to finish, goes as cheerfully to his task as though he could hope to see the cap-stone rising to its place. For he has before him the plan of the architect, and he knows that every stone which he lays down deep in the earth helps to realize that plan. So the Christian can now labor as cheerfully and with faith as strong, to fill the land with the power of the Gospel, as though he could see the dawn of the millennial morning lighting up the East. For he has before him God's plan, and he sees as he looks upon it the glorious result which his toil is helping to attain. He sees that this is to be Immanuel's land—a mountain of holiness, and a habitation of righteousness; and he knows that each passing year, with its burden of fervent prayer and self-denying effort, hastens this blessed consummation.

DECEASE OF HENRY DWIGHT, ESQ.,

PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

This eminent servant of Christ, after a protracted illness, borne with the meekness, the submission, and the full faith in the power of Jesus and the resurrection, which formed so striking a feature of his character, departed this life, on Sabbath morning, September 6th, 1857, at the age of 74.

Mr. Dwight was born in Springfield, Massachusetts, and graduated at Yale College in 1801. In 1813, he entered the ministry and became the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Utica. The duties of this office he performed with great ability and acceptance, and large accessions were made to the church under his faithful ministrations. But the loss of his voice compelled him, in 1817, to relinquish the profession of his choice and engage in secular pursuits.

He soon after removed to Geneva, where he continued to reside till his decease, and where his domestic and social virtues will long be had in most affectionate remembrance. In his extensive business transactions, his perspicacity, his sound judgment, his sense of justice, and his unbending purpose to do that which was right, commanded for him the highest confidence and respect. In his connection with the church, as an Elder, a Bible class and Sabbath school teacher, a comforter of the afflicted, a guide to the inquiring, a counselor of the young, a helper of the poor, and a friend to all, he honored the religion of his Divine Master. In the great enterprises for the dissemination of religious truth, the establishment of christian institutions and the conversion of the world, which distinguish the age in which he has lived, he took the deepest interest, and contributed largely of his wisdom, his personal influence, and his pecuniary bounty for their advancement.

Previous to the organization of the American Home Missionary Society, he had a leading agency in the formation and management of a Domestic Missionary Society in his immediate vicinity, which gave encouragement and strength to many of the feeble churches. The idea of a National Institution on substantially the same basis, gladdened his heart; and by his intelligence, his sagacity, his experience, and his faith in the promises of God, he rendered important service in developing it, and commending it to the christian community, and in founding the AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY. Of this Society he was constituted a Director, at its organization; and in 1837, was elected its President. For twenty seven years, he also performed the duties of Chairman of the Agency of the Society at Geneva. He had a high appreciation of the nature and importance of the Home Missionary work, was most familiar with its principles and policy, and watched over its progress with unceasing interest. His wise and kind suggestions contributed to the success of its administration; his noble example stimulated others to lend to it a helping hand; and his remembrance of it at the throne of grace, we believe, brought down upon it the richest blessings of Heaven.

He has ceased from his labors, but his works do follow him. His generous contributions, through so long a period, for the advancement of a cause he so much loved, we can not doubt he now finds to be treasure laid up in heaven, and the instrumentalities he has set in motion for the redemption of men, we may hope, will not cease till our whole land shall become Immanuel's, and the earth be filled with the knowledge of God. His record is on high; and his memory will be precious to the wise and the good in the large circle in which he was known; especially will it be embalmed in the best affections of the members of the Institution, over which, with so much propriety and dignity, he so long presided.

In reference to the decease of Mr. Dwight, the Executive Committee of the American Home Missionary Society, at their meeting, September 28th, adopted the following minute:

WHEREAS it has pleased Almighty God to remove, by death, HENRY DWIGHT, Esq., one of the founders of this Society, one of its most valuable counselors and most liberal benefactors, and, for twenty years, its honored President;

Resolved, That we recognize, in this dispensation, so afflictive to the Church of God and to all christian and philanthropic enterprises, a peculiarly severe bereavement to this Institution—the loss of one of its earliest, most constant, and distinguished patrons and friends; and that we desire to record our deep sense of his eminent ability and his exalted worth—his broad and comprehensive views of the divine government and of human responsibility, the simplicity of his christian character, the strength of his faith, his stern regard for principle and duty, his inflexible integrity, his large-hearted benevolence, his careful observance of all the proprieties and courtesies of life, his entire devotedness to the will of God, and his meetness, when the summons came, for the joy of his Lord.

Resolved, That we sympathize deeply with the bereaved widow and children in their affliction, while we unite with them in thanksgiving to God that a life of so much moral beauty and christian excellence—an example of so much that is lovely and of good report, in the most endeared relations and the most important trusts, has been continued so long, and closed with such tokens of the divine approbation and such assurances of a blessed immortality.

Resolved, That a copy of this minute be presented to the family of the deceased, and published in the periodical of the Society.

We append the following from a notice of the character of Mr. Dwight, in the New York Evangelist:

“His christian munificence toward nearly every religious and benevolent society was remarkable, while the liberal hand with which he has ever relieved private suffering, although conjectured, may never be known. His kind heart never allowed a deserving applicant to go away unrelieved. His christian affection toward the indigent follower of Christ, was as warm as it was for him who was ‘clothed in purple and fine linen.’

“Mr. Dwight, although in feeble health for many years, was an active, earnest, consistent, unwavering Christian. Even formerly when engaged in extensive and engrossing secular business, he never allowed the most unimportant religious duty to pass neglected. He was a Sabbath school teacher, and instructed a Bible class. The weekly lectures and prayer meetings in Geneva, even to his last illness, were seldom overlooked or forgotten by him. On many a dark, stormy night, might this devoted follower of Christ, be seen with his lantern, groping his way to the regular evening meetings. When younger men were absent, he would be found in his seat; if the brethren needed words of encouragement or exhortation, he was ever ready for christian duty and personal effort.

“Mr. Dwight was remarkable for his christian hospitality. His delightful home was seldom without its guests, and they were entertained with that courtly cordiality and warmth of heart which endeared him and his estimable lady to a wide circle of christian friends. In his former extensive banking operations, which once not merely embraced the whole of Western New York, but extended to Michigan and Ohio—where himself and his three brothers were proprietors of banking institutions—the breath of calumny never was uttered against their integrity or the christian equity of their financial operations. Uprightness of purpose and a conscientious discharge of every trust, characterized Mr. Dwight's business life, as child-like faith, humility, and gentleness marked his symmetrical and beautiful christian character.

"It may be proper here to remark, that his retirement from the ministry was not a voluntary act. After nearly four years of eminent usefulness in the pulpit at Utica, his voice failed him, and he reluctantly engaged in secular pursuits. Yet he never omitted his theological studies, or the practical duties of a pastor. Mr. Dwight's business was guided by christian principles, and the various officers educated in his banking institutions in Geneva and the West, have left their impress upon these communities. Even to this day, his example and precepts are exerting the happiest influence in Geneva and the Western country.

"Three children, two sons and a daughter, survive the deceased parent. While they have sorrow of heart that so beloved a father has been removed, they rejoice that he was permitted to see so many years of usefulness, and that he has left such evidences of abiding faith in Christ, and deep, child-like piety. A long life of honorable usefulness was graciously continued to him. He was only called home by his Heavenly Father when his strength was impaired and his eye dim, and he was fully ripened for the harvest."

It may be proper to add, especially as incorrect statements have appeared in some of the public prints, respecting the bequests of Mr. Dwight, that after making such provision for his wife, and leaving such portions to his children and other relatives as he deemed suitable, he devoted the remainder of his property to benevolent purposes, giving thirty per cent of it to the American Home Missionary Society; fifteen per cent to each of four other National Institutions—the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, the American Bible Society, the American Tract Society, and the American Sunday School Union; and the remaining ten per cent to the promotion of several other charitable objects. The whole to be paid in ten annual installments; and the provision for the widow, at her decease, to be distributed in the same proportion to the institutions and objects previously named.

Intimate Relations of the East and West.

I preached most of the time in a log cabin. I found it truly a Bethel. Sinners were weeping, and backsliders resolving to return. Oh! it is blessed to preach to those who are hungering and thirsting for the bread and water of life. Some listened eagerly who had scarcely entered a church since they left the East. One man who, I have learned recently, belonged to a church at the East formerly, but was ashamed to have it known, has returned to his Father's house. Another, from New England, is now interested, and I have some reason to think, has passed from death unto life. I have often felt, that our brethren in the East do not feel sufficiently the close and intimate connection between themselves and us. Here we meet with their sons and daughters. Some of them are impenitent, or perhaps hardened. They have, here in their prairie-home, time to reflect. The temptations to pleasure and amusement, that so often dissipated or prevented serious thoughts in the East, are here comparatively small. In our last meeting, a son of a Congregational minister was present, and signified his desire to become a follower of Jesus. Providence had guided him, as if by a pillar of fire or cloud, to this place, just at this time, in search of a home for himself and widowed mother. May he find, first, his father's religion.

Infidel Emigrants from the East.

The East does not send us so many zealous, active Christians as I had hoped for; and I have been surprised to see how large a proportion of the immigrants from the Eastern States regard the christian religion either with feelings of indifference or of hostility. In many cases, doubtless, the habits and character of the immigrants have been greatly altered for the worse, since their removal to the West; but not a few of them bring all their impiety and hatred of the truth along with them; and manifest it on the first convenient occasion after their arrival.

They are evidently glad to escape from the observation of their former acquaintances, and from the religious restraints which were thrown around them in youth. Sometimes their assaults on the truth are so outrageous and audacious, that their efforts to convince others that the Bible is false, produce an effect very different from what they intend. They find, upon trial, that it is much easier to speak contemptuously of the Scriptures, than to prove them false. We have many skeptical persons here; but those who have put themselves forward as the champions of infidelity, have gained neither honor nor influence by it, even among the irreligious portion of the community. The open and violent assaults of infidelity are much less to be feared than the silent influence of worldliness. The hostile attacks of the enemies of the truth serve to strengthen the ties by which Christians are united; but when Christians yield to the influence of a worldly spirit, they become estranged from each other, and mingle with the irreligious world.

Discomforts and Perils of the Winter.

Such has been the intensity of the cold, the thermometer ranging a great portion of the time from 10° to 30° below zero, and such the character of the snow storms to which we have been subject, that I have found it utterly impossible to fulfill my appointments regularly. Probably, greater interruptions have occurred from this cause during the past three months, than during the whole period of time for which I have had the privilege of being sustained by your Society. My visits to the distant settlements have been almost entirely cut off. Seldom have our roads been sufficiently broken or the weather so moderate, as to warrant my going with safety far from home. Our snow storms have been unequaled within the knowledge of the oldest inhabitants of Northern Iowa; and to be caught out on our open prairies at the close of day in one of them, was like rushing into the jaws of Death. During the space of time covered by my report, we can enumerate eight deaths, of persons who were thus overtaken by them at night, in this immediate section of country. Some perished within sight of their own dwellings; and but for the watchful providence of God I had been numbered amongst this list. I had gone down to New Oregon, one Sabbath morning, having an appointment to preach at one o'clock, P.M., and in the evening. The morning was clear, but soon presented the usual signs of a heavy storm. I knew that my family would be alone, and unable to do any thing against it, and were not prepared for it; and after consulting some of the friends decided to return immediately. Before I had walked one mile, it broke upon me in all its strength. It proved to be one of the most severe of the season. More than once, I got off my road into the drifts, and several times had almost given up in despair. To go back was as dangerous as to go on. I felt cheered, however, by the recollection I was in His hands who giveth his angels charge over his people; and finally reached my home, where we failed not to return thanks to God for his watchful providence. Frequently, when the roads were unbroken, and the snow-drifts so heavy that I dared not take my horse out, have I walked to my appointments with the thermometer varying from 10° to 30° below zero, over an exposed prairie without the least shelter; and, with the exception of having had my face and ears frozen, I have been mercifully preserved. In this state of things you will not be surprised on learning, that our congregations have been very fluctuating. When the day is promising, we have a congregation varying from sixty to eighty; but when the reverse is the case, it dwindles down to less than twenty. Certainly, I have seen nothing like the present winter during the thirteen years that I have spent in Iowa. On five or six different occasions, I have had to dig down to my stable; and on the last, which was during the past week, it occupied myself and two of my neighbors nearly all day, to shovel the snow away under which it was buried. My time has been largely occupied in preparing fire wood, and shoveling snow.

A Cold Bath.

A violent rain which occurred during my labors at Kinderhook, caused an unusual freshet, and came near resulting in something serious to myself. Having been prevented from reaching my stopping place, in Rockport, I was on my way, the next morning, before sunrise. A sudden change of weather had come with severe cold. The still swollen current of a creek concealed a change in the bed of the stream, and I unexpectedly found my horse nearly swimming, with an almost perpendicular ascent beneath the surface. After nearly falling twice, he succeeded in throwing himself partly upon the bank, and, on the instant, I cast myself from him. When thus relieved, he gained the shore. I received a contusion upon the side, the effects of which still continue. I rode ten miles, with my limbs encased in such "greaves" as Goliath never wore—the mercury at 10°.

Discomforts.

We could bear the winter well enough, if we had a comfortable house; and we hoped that we should have; but we find the cold gets in where we little expected. We live in a house boarded and well clapboarded, but neither ceiled nor plastered inside; and it has been impossible to keep comfortable. Our children have suffered much; they have all been made unwell. But we are not alone in suffering. Our neighbors are similarly affected. There is scarcely a person about here who can call himself well. We shall be right glad to see spring open, and to feel the warm rays of an April sun. To perform much ministerial or any other labor, under such circumstances, is next to impossible. To take care of my domestic animals, and provide wood for our two stoves, has necessarily occupied no small portion of my time; while the impossibility of keeping my study comfortable, has made it very difficult for me to study at all.

Hard Journey.

Our journey from Reed's Landing to this place, was not only one of hardship but of peril. The Mississippi was just rising by the melting of the immense body of snow above, and the frost was just coming out of the ground. Though we did not—I speak rather for myself than my family—sink in "the slough of despond," yet we did literally in a slough of the Mississippi, with horses and wagons, so that my whole family and baggage had to be carried by hand several rods through water and mire, three or four feet deep. But a merciful Providence delivered us out of all our perils. I spent the Sabbath at Dunnville, where we arrived on Saturday evening—having left on Monday—and preached to a small congregation.

The New Home.

My family, worn out with fatigue, started again on Monday morning for our destination—one of our children, eight years old, being sick with the scarlet fever. We arrived at this place, to go into a house without floors, and with but few windows, and no partitions, and commenced housekeeping with a box-stove, and such scanty household utensils as the kindness of friends could spare—our own goods not having arrived. Our exposure and labors were such as my family were unaccustomed to ; but though suffering from colds and fatigue, we have been spared from fatal or even severe sickness. The child taken with the scarlet fever soon recovered ; but shortly, some of the others fell ill with the measles—five of them having never had the disease—and to this day, there has not been a time, unless we except the present, when some one or more of my family have not been sick. This state of things, living as we have had to do, in a house with joiners and masons at work, has forbidden us almost all the blessing of a home. Yet we have probably been as well provided for in this respect as most of the settlers here, and much better than many. They are trials not wholly unexpected, and to which all settlers in a new country must be exposed. These things are written, not in a complaining spirit, nor with desponding feelings, but as a simple narrative of facts. With the care of my family, the labor of building, and the responsibilities of a missionary, I have been most cheerful ; and, with the exception of a few days, never enjoyed better health.

In Labors Abundant.

We have now in active operation four Sabbath schools in connection with my congregations, numbering about 200 scholars, in all. They are well manned, and have good libraries. I now preach, regularly, to five congregations, viz., Bluffton, Dartford, Green Lake, Metomon, and Reed's Corners. Next Sabbath evening, I go ten and a half miles, and preach on Green Lake prairie. After opening the Sabbath school, I hasten to my next appointment, four and a half miles due east. When through there, I ride four miles more, and preach again. The next Sabbath, I only travel ten miles, and preach only twice. I can sympathize with Paul, in respect to being "in weariness often." Still, my health is good ; and I feel confident that I can now perform more ministerial service than at any former period of my life.

History of a Day.

Saddled my horse and rode four miles before breakfast, to procure a workman whose presence was necessary by the usual hour for work. Next, five miles more, to visit a ministerial neighbor, who was very ill. Thence, three miles, to order at one place some lime, at another, to find a man to load it, and at a third to order stone from the quarry ; then, back to the church, two miles ; thence to another quarry, to help roll on a load of stone. From there (while the team was on the way to the building and back) I walked a mile, to call upon a church member lying very ill ; back to the quarry, and helped load more stone ; and finally, a four mile ride home. On another day, I was stopped in the midst of a similar round of duties, to attend a funeral, three or four miles away, across the river—a journey necessarily made on foot, and leading me across the Kansas river and Soldier creek, by ferrying four times. Scarcity of laborers and of means to pay them, lays upon him who would see any such work go on, the necessity of donning his working suit, and putting his own hands to the work.

A Year of Affliction.

This has been a wonderful year to me. God has dealt bitterly with me. I have been sick nigh unto death. My son, my first born, my only son, was taken sick and died, while I was sick ; and then, when I had begun to recover so as to be able to preach, I was thrown from the carriage, and nearly killed. From that injury I have not yet recovered, though I have preached once on almost every Sabbath since. The people here have been so kind and attentive to us, that they have given me an insight into the twenty fifth chapter of Matthew, that I never could have obtained in the closet. Surely, Christ must be in his suffering members, to behold how like angels his people look, when ministering to the sick and dying. Never were a people more humane and constant and sympathetic and self-sacrificing. Truly there is no friendship like christian friendship, and no sympathy like christian sympathy, and no love like christian love. To have a son just beaming into manhood; taken from you, under any circumstances, must be a severe affliction; but to have a first born, and an only son, one who was never know to lisp a profane expression; one who never gave to either of his parents an unkind word; one who was always happy, and always trying to make others happy; one who had, for four years, been seated with us at the table of his and our Lord; and who sat down with his father, the last time that he worshiped God, and partook of the elements for the last time, before leaving to go to the school of the prophets—to have such a son taken, and taken, too, when his father could not be present, though in an adjoining room, seems a concentration of sorrows.

“Canst thou Drink of the Cup?”

Since my last quarterly report was sent to you, God has called my dear wife and myself to drink deep of the cup of affliction. A beloved daughter, in her twenty first year, has, after a year's sickness, and severe suffering, gone to her rest in heaven, leaving her motherless babe in our arms. Some months before her death, she dedicated herself and her child to God; and from that hour her trust in the blessed Saviour was unshaken, and she met death with a cordial welcome. This is the third daughter that has been taken from us, in the space of a few years, by that fatal disease, consumption. All arrived at womanhood, and each has left a lonely companion to mourn her death. Our last and only surviving daughter, aged twenty eight, is now on her death-bed, with the same disease, and will probably be removed from us before my next quarter shall close. She is in a very happy state of mind. Thus is God dealing with us. But his will be done!

Missionary Wives.

It is not strange that the wives of Home Missionaries often lose their health. I often wonder that they are as well as they are. It is one of our greatest trials, that our wives and families fare so hardly, with our scanty support, in these new countries. It is often next to impossible to get help, if we try; and then as difficult to pay them, if we get them. The common price for girls' wages, where we live, has been $3 per week, and very scarce at that. At the time when most mothers feel that they must have a girl in the kitchen, and a nurse besides, we were utterly deserted, without a single female in the house. Such trials with those of housekeeping will soon wear them out. Tell the churches to remember their missionaries and their missionaries' wives, and to pray that God will strengthen them for their self-denying labors!

An Advertisement.

We pray that the laborers needed may be speedily sent. If you know of any one who longs for erucifixion, who feels as if he would love to find his way down to the lowest depths, where dreams of fame and wealth, or distinetion of any earthly kind, will not in the least ruffle his spirit, direct him to me. I would, in a few hours' ride, introduce him to a field that would thoroughly test his professions of love to Jesus. But if any one longs to come, we can not consent to offer the privilege, except on one condition—that he determine to live and die on the field! The Lord Jesus needs to be impersonated here. These poor, perishing, Christless souls, these lost sheep and lambs, for whom the great Shepherd bled and died, need to see how a Christian lives. And how can they behold the full likeness, till they see how a Christian dies. We bespeak for this people, who have become dear to us, much prayer. We eherish bright hopes for the future. The soil here is the richest in Ohio; and when the genuine spirit of Christianity—readiness to suffer for the salvation of the people—appears here, we shall have some of the sweetest odors, the fairest blossoms, and the richest fruits.

A Dark, Hard Place.

I have labored to the limit of my strength on the Sabbath, uniformly attending our Sabbath school, which is large and flourishing, in the morning, and conducting three public services, one of which is four miles distant. I have also spent much time in visiting from house to house, and distributing tracts. I regret to say that the attendance on my appointments has been quite irregular. At times, I have a respectable number of hearers, and then but few. Although not in the limits of what is called Egypt, the moral aspect of this field is dark enough. The chief business of the Sabbath is visiting and recreation. Whilst addressing a small audience a few weeks since at C., two young men left the house to attend a horse race; and an aged "local preacher" soon after bolted, saying, "that was too strict for him." Of course he will not be seen again among my hearers. The next Sabbath that I was there, another horse race came off, and consequently my audience was quite small. On a recent Sabbath, five reapers were at work in this vicinity, giving employment to fifty men. Thus do they requite the God who has given them abundant harvests!

You may judge of the moral condition of this village, from the fact that there are only six family altars in one hundred and two families, and three of these are the families of ministers. All the earlier settlers, who laid the foundations of society, thirty years ago, were decidedly irreligious. With scarcely an exception, all the men of business, physicians, merchants, and mechanics, are of the same character. The small number of nominal Christians also appear to be quite conformed to the world in their habits. How I should rejoice, had I a small number only of self denying, prayerful, responsible brethren to labor with me. One of the sorest evils a missionary has to contend with, is the declension of those who have long lived far away from religious ordinances. How we need a few burning and shining lights in this dark region. Satan has got a strong hold here, and he will not relinquish his grasp without a severe struggle. He is ready to dispute the ground, inch by inch. As yet, I have made but little impression upon this mass of sin and death. Plain, faithful, pungent preaching, people can hardly bear. And yet what must be done? No other preaching will do the least good. Never before have I realized so sensibly my utter impotence. Unless God pour out his Spirit, my efforts will fail, and all the people go to perdition. I feel encouraged by the thought that faithful labor will not be lost, even in a hard field. Besides, should it be abandoned, the enemy will triumph and remain secure in his possession.

Ignorance and Crime.

It is stated, that every fourth family in this and the adjoining counties, is destitute of a copy of the Scriptures; and it would probably be found that more than that proportion of the population can not read. Although ignorance and vice still exist here to an alarming extent, still there has been a great improvement in the habits and morals of the community, within the last few months. The Sabbath is better kept, there is not as much rowdying and fighting in the streets. Meetings for religious worship are better attended, and there is not so much disorder in time of worship—the people listen with more attention and apparent interest; and yet, it is a very hard place. A friend from Vermont, who has spent a few months here, remarked to me the other day, that there was not another so wicked a place in all the Free States, and that they needed a missionary here, as much as in Africa or Asia. I think there have been four murders committed in this county, within twelve months, and only one man has been arrested, and he had been in jail for a few days only, when he was bailed out by an irresponsible man, on a bond of five hundred dollars! It is thought that he will never be brought to trial. We now have a good day school here, taught by a Presbyterian minister, which is exerting a good influence, and a gentleman from New England is about collecting a class in vocal music. At times, I get almost disheartened. But, as Providence has placed me here, I would not imitate Jonah, and embark on board a boat for "Tarsus," lest I get shipwrecked or swallowed up.

"Down with Education."

Not only in political and pecuniary matters, is the truth of the Bible maxim realized, "When the wicked rule the righteous mourn," but also in the important work of education. Our village contained two school districts, but their school houses being poor and worn out, it was voted to unite the two into one, buy a lot, and build a school house of good size. The Trustees selected a lot, and voted to buy it at an expense of $250. They also proposed a plan for a building, to cost about $2,000. At a recent school meeting, the tax payers—many of whom hardly know their right hand from their left, like the babes of old "Nineveh"—secreetly drummed up their host and came to the meeting, resolved to stop this school movement for educating the children; it "cost too much." It was amusing to hear some of our most wealthy citizens.—"I have got along as well as most men; and I never went to school but three months in my life." Another: "I have done better than that. I have never been to school at all." And another still: "What is the use of laying out so much, to educate the children? The fact is, those that don't go to school are the best off, they an't so proud and stuffed up. This education is all nonsense—down with it!" The vote was taken on the building; and these wise ignoramuses voted down the school house tax, and went away in triumph.

Baptism by a Justice of the Peace.

I had heard, for several days, that my Dutch neighbor of the brewery, was to have a grand ball and supper on Saturday evening. Great preparations were making; and on Saturday morning he asked me to attend the festival, and baptize his child. He is a profane, Sabbath-breaking man, and keeps a lager beer saloon. His wife gives no more evidence of piety than he. They are both good natured people, and on good terms with the community, especially the drinking portion of it. I had a little talk with him, and found that his highest idea of the rite was, the naming of the child in public. This was all he expected or wished. I was obliged to tell him that we had no such rite. I could not make him see into it. He said, he had always considered that we belonged to the same church. He had been baptized into one when he was an infant. I overheard him indulging in a little profane language after I left, and learn that a large part of the town gave vent to their feelings in the same way. Of course, there were exceptions. During the evening the band, which had come twenty miles for the occasion, ceased its music, the dancers formed a circle around the room, the child was produced, and baptized by the Justice of the Peace, who is not a whit behind the father, either in profanity or disregard for the Sabbath.

Grog-Shops.

The low grog-shops are doing a large business, in violation of law; and though prosecuted and fined, they will not desist. One establishment was amerced at the recent sitting of the Circuit Court in the sum of $140, and it is now doing a larger and bolder business than ever. The drunkenness and revelry of that one establishment, are enough to make the day gloomy and the night hideous. Hitherto, complaints have been made by individuals, chiefly upon their own responsibility; but a few of us have been consulting, and have concluded to call a public meeting, in order to give the entire community an opportunity to assume the responsibility of whatever further legal measures it may be expedient to adopt.

The new law must have fallen unpleasantly on those who had ever been accustomed to avenge their own injuries, when murder was first made punishable by death. What an outrage that a man should not be permitted to take vengeance on his enemy ! But the conscience of the people—of the governing people at least—had, at last, fully settled it, that murder is a crime ; and so, if any person, for love of money, or for revenge, or with malice of any kind, wishes to take the life of his neighbor, he must do it at peril of his own. This is a CRIME. The whole community acknowledge it to be such, hold it in abhorrence, and are determined to visit it with due punishment.—There has been progress.

But in the light of these latter days, the eye of the public conscience has caught sight of another wrong, which stands out so prominently, is so frequent, and so gross, and so hurtful, and so sinful, that it must be publicly recognized, acknowledged, stamped as a wrong ; and henceforth, no man can keep a grog-shop and keep his character. We are gradually coming to the point, that no man shall be allowed to open one of these schools of iniquity. He loses character by it. If that is not sufficient to deter him, then he must lose money—which is the life-blood of this sin. But even if he must lose his liberty for a season, this wrong must be stopped.

Church-Building under Difficulties.

We have had a terrible struggle to get our meeting house so that we could use it this winter ; but, thanks be to the Lord for his great goodness, continued to us in these times of necessity, we have held worship in it for the three last Sabbaths ! It is not completed, however. We have only a rough coat of plastering on it, and the seats and pulpit are all temporary. But our hearts are made glad, notwithstanding, that we have a place of our own ; where we feel at home in our acts of devotion. Our church edifice has given us at once a name and a character, and a much stronger and more prominent influence in the place than we have ever before felt.

One can hardly realize the value of a meeting house to a little denomination, who have struggled hard and long, in competition with other denominations already in possession of houses of worship, until he has had some experience. We find that there are many of our order scattered all around, who are now coming up to this temple to worship. I have often been compelled to labor on our meeting house, all the week, and much of the time to stand at the head of affairs, in order that the work might go forward. Besides, I am on the subscription for $200 ; and a necessity was laid upon me to do what I could with my hands, to keep this obligation. The closing struggle to get into our house of worship this winter, has been a hard one for me. The money crisis coming on, we found, when we had got our house so far completed as to be ready for plastering, that the money could not be raised to buy the lime ; and all our available means had been exhausted. I therefore took it upon myself to raise the money, and by writing to relatives at the East succeeded in borrowing it ; so that we finally obtained the lime, and succeeded in getting on one coat. Then, the house to be fit for use, must be furnished with stoves. Here again, I have had to assume the responsibility of raising the money, or we must go without. With the favor of kind relatives, I have succeeded in this also. I would not have you think from this, that there is any backwardness on the part of my people, to take this burden off from my shoulders, if they could do so ; but money can not be had among us at present. They say that I shall be helped out of it, just as soon as they can do so. Our house has already cost us $2,300. We built of brick, and had the misfortune to have both of the side walls blown down, when they were ready for the roof. I have turned every dollar I could get from any source whatever into the building ; and have much indebtedness of my own that ought to be met.

A Noble Example.

You will remember that about two years since, I wrote you in relation to the necessity of sending some able and devoted ministers into this valley. You will be interested to contrast our present condition and prospects with what they then were. In September, 1855, we called Rev. C. Smith to an unoccupied—and considered by many—an unpromising field, on the west side of the river, in this city. On the 25th of October, we organized a church of 23 members. In twelve days after the timber for a frame was at the saw mill, we completed—with the exception of the seats—a church, 54 by 36 feet, and held service in it. It was painted and plastered in that time. Immediately after, it was filled; and we have since found it necessary to add 20 feet to its length. Immediately after our church was formed, we organized a Sabbath school and Bible class, which has steadily increased, until we have now about 200 members, and one of the most interesting schools I have ever attended. There has been no communion season since we were a church without additions, until we now number nearly 100 members; and though the youngest but one, we are already one of the most efficient churches in the country.

Within the past year, we have put up the walls of one of the best modeled—and what will be, when completed—one of the most beautiful church edifices in the State; 100 feet in length, and 65 feet wide. The front is of polished gypsum—than which nothing is more beautiful. It will cost, when completed, about $25,000; and when finished, we shall owe but little for it. When Rev. Mr. Smith came here, he was acquainted with no family but mine, and I assumed his support for the first year; but others aided liberally in making up his salary. We promised him $1,000 per year, and paid him $1,500. We have had no aid from any Church Erection Fund in building our house, nor from any Missionary Society in paying our minister; and have accomplished just as much, or more, than we should have done, had we been aided to the amount of $5,000, to commence with.

It is a marked feature of our congregation that, to a large extent, they are made up of persons who did not before regularly attend church—many of them not at all, except on funeral occasions. Some of the most interesting members are from this latter class.

From House to House.

It is pleasant to enforce the duties of religion from house to house, to search out diligently through the thinly settled country the scattered of the flock of Christ, where they have none to admonish, or sympathize, or pray with them. Said one: "I have not found the comforts, or the temporal enjoyments, nor yet the intellectual, moral, and religious influences that I had expected. There is not an individual to whom I can open my mind on the subject of religion. I should appear as a barbarian to those about me, were I to attempt it. The whole current of society is against holiness. The Sabbath is spent in drinking, social visits, laboring, and hunting. There is no meeting, no place of prayer, no preacher of righteousness. I take my Bible, and retire alone, and pray the Lord of the harvest to break up this course of wickedness."

It is good to meet such persons in our explorations, and laborious duties. It refreshes and comforts our own hearts as well as theirs. They receive us as sent of God, in answer to prayer, with christian cheer and charity.

Since writing the above, I have been called to attend a funeral, ten miles distant, on the other side of the Wisconsin. The ferry-man was not to be found. But, observing four Indians round a fire among the bushes, I hired one of them to ferry me over. With one pipe in his mouth, and another in his hair, he rowed me safely over. On my return, one of them, Warrikawa, was drunk before the fire, with a bottle of whisky by his side, and two of his companions were playing cards with two white boys, intelligent and well clad, and only about twelve years of age. One of them is the son of a pious widow.

The Ministers demanded.

These little beneficiary churches frequently have a bell-wether among them who hails from Dr. Cheever's, Dr. Cox's, Dr. Smith's, or some other D.D.'s church, and he is never satisfied unless the minister is somewhere near his old Doctor. He is apt to make his whole flock uneasy, and to keep them looking in the direction he points, for a Doctor.

Another, the proprietor of the town, wishes a man who is popular, who will bring his town into notice, and make market for his lots. He will give so much, for a minister of such and such qualifications. The idea is, a bell weighing so many pounds, with a tongue or clapper so long and so big, to be heard far and near, and call the ends of the earth together—for what? To purchase lots!

The "Lone Rock."

Juneau county, in which I am the only minister of Congregational or Presbyterian predilections, contains an area of 756 square miles. Its distinct existence dates back less than one year—though it has had a brief existence in connection with Adams county—and yet it has a somewhat large population already, and accessions are made to it daily. Upon the numerous streams running in various directions through the county, have sprung up a number of towns, in which, if you may not see the church spire, and hear the church-going bell, you may see tokens of worldly thrift, and hear the hum of business. Nor will there be wanting evidences enough, that Satan's seat is also in the midst of them. Among these towns is New Lisbon, the county seat, situated at the juncture of the Big and Little Lemonwier rivers, and having a population of about 700. There are five other villages within a few miles. All these towns, with one exception, I have visited, spending one or more Sabbaths in them, and preaching to the people. And in them all can be found but one Presbyterian or Congregational church, and that has a membership of only five. In this county is a rock, towering high, and standing so entirely by itself, that it has received the designation of "Lone Rock." Such may not this little church be called, standing, as it does, solitary and alone in the midst of all these settlements? And if she is not herself a rock, it is to be hoped that she is built upon that Rock which will enable her to bid defiance to the descending rains, the beating winds, and the rushing floods.

A Preaching Saw-Mill.

One instance will serve to show how completely the religious interest swallowed up all worldly considerations. There is a steam saw-mill in our place which, at that time, was doing a heavy business, running night and day; but whenever the hour for a meeting arrived, whether in the day time or the evening, the mill was stopped, and all hands were permitted to attend. Such a fact might appear trifling at the East; but here, where money brings three per cent a month—which rate of interest the proprietor was actually paying at that time for capital to carry on his business—this fact possesses some significance. As a brother minister remarked, this silent saw-mill may, in the providence of God, have preached more effective sermons, as to the paramount importance of spiritual interests, than any that were heard from the pulpit.

Spiritual Harvests.

At the date of my last report, I was engaged in protracted labors at R. At the conclusion, the pastor told me that he could count 112 persons who had given evidence of conversion during the meeting. Besides these, he thought that there were not less than thirty who had professed conversion, but whose names he did not know. How many will unite with the church I can not tell.

At the last communion there were twenty nine. My labors during the latter part of winter and spring were quite severe. For ninety days, I averaged one sermon a day.

As the results of the meetings above mentioned, more than 200 persons were hopefully converted. At the last meeting of our Convention, not less than 1,000 hopeful conversions were reported in connection with our congregations, during the last six months. All these churches were once, if not now, connected with the Society as beneficiaries; and that too, within five years.

Truly "There shall be a handful of corn on the tops of the mountains; the fruit thereof shall shake like Lebanon"!

A Touching Conversion.

Among the recent conversions of special interest, was that of a young lady of fine mind and attainments, who, though the daughter of a wealthy citizen, preferred to earn her own living as a teacher in one of our public schools. She was a girl whose loveliness of character, rare accomplishments, and winning ways drew round her a large circle of admiring and attached friends.

Some few weeks since, her mind became deeply impressed by the truth, and by the Spirit of God. She had not previously enjoyed religious advantages; and when she did see herself and her lost condition in sin, she was deeply affected, and sought with anxious concern to learn the way of life. One Tuesday evening she came to see me, to talk about her soul. After unfolding to her the guilt and misery of the natural man, and the preciousness of Christ as a Savior from sin, and the reasonableness of God's claim for the immediate surrender of the whole heart to him, I told her that I was about to offer prayer, and begged her that while on our knees, she should give herself away, just as she was, to be the Lord's forever. After prayer, and a few words of instruction, she left. On Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings of that week, she was at the meetings, saying little, but deeply solemn; on Sabbath she was at church at both services, and took a deep interest in them. She remarked to a friend that she had never heard preaching before as she did that day. The truth was sweet to her soul. It was her last visit to the house of God on earth! The next day she was taken with a fatal illness. As soon as I heard of it, I hastened to visit her; and as I sat by her bedside, she said: "Mr. H., when we bowed in prayer in your study, last Tuesday evening, I did give myself unreservedly, if I know myself at all, to be the Lord's forever. I know my heart is deceitful, and I have examined myself often, and with much prayer, that God would show me if I am deceived, but after the closest scrutiny I can give, I do feel and believe that I am the Lord's, by full and free surrender, and that he is mine through rich grace. I am happy, unspeakably happy. I feel that this sickness is unto death. I shall not recover; nor have I a wish to live on my own account." In this frame of mind she continued, till death, in a few days, closed her earthly course. Many who knew and loved this young disciple, (as I doubt not she was,) and who saw what the grace of God had done for her, have been deeply impressed.

Too Late!

At T. I preached to a small but attentive audience. Among the rest was a young man, the husband of a young wife, and the father of three children. I noticed him very particularly, because I knew that he entertained some skeptical notions, and rarely attended my preaching. After sermon, we both traveled the same road for some two miles. His company started in advance of me, but I saw him hanging back; so I rode up and joined in conversation with him. He was exceedingly pleasant, and showed a great deal of friendship. When I parted with him, I could not keep from entertaining the hope, that I might yet do him some good. About two weeks afterward, I heard that he had been taken violently ill. The next morning I hastened to his house, hoping that the time had come when his heart might be opened to the truth of the Gospel. But alas! I found his mind almost entirely gone. He recognized me, and said he was glad to see me; but I saw that there was no chance to present to him a Saviour's love. That night he died.

Some Results of Home Missionary Experience in New Hampshire.

1. Labors among feeble churches have produced a deep impression of the value of these churches to the communities around them, and the importance of continuing to sustain them. Not less important are they to the communities in which they are found, than are larger, richer churches, to those in which they are located. Our feeble churches and their faithful pastors, or stated supplies, we must sustain at all events. Failure here would result in incalculable evil, not only to the latter but to the former; for the immoralities generated in the moral darkness of that, would overflow into this, and both communities tend to moral ruin together.

2. The only promoter and conservator of good morals in any community, is the BIBLE, with its doctrines explained, its institutions advocated, its duties inculcated, its precepts taught, its motives enforced by an educated, godly ministry, such as the community will respect, and in which, known by its fruits, for "its simplicity and godly sincerity," they will confide. In the absence of such a ministry, it is utterly vain to hope that a high standard of morals can be raised or sustained.

3. Such a ministry should be established in the early settlement of every town. Let any number of men establish a new settlement, and unless they make the institutions of the Gospel an essential part, and secure an able, pious ministry from the first, irreligion and immorality will creep in; soon, vice will be in the ascendancy, and in a few years will give the people a character of ungodliness; they will sneer at, will defy God's truth, and "glory in unrighteousness." In demonstration of this, thousands of terrible facts might be adduced.

4. In the absence of a learned, godly ministry, competent to "vindicate the ways of God to man," whose weight of character shall command the respect and gain the confidence of the people, an ignorant, feeble ministry will appear, which, to some extent, will be endured, but can produce no strong impression for good. Good men they may be, but uneducated, unlettered, devoid of mental discipline, unable to use language correctly, entirely incompetent to state or defend the fundamental doctrines of the Bible, or to inculcate the duties it enjoins, announcing a text, yet not saying any thing in legitimate connection with it, but always running into a cant line of exhortation; they not only fail to secure the ears of their hearers, but awaken disgust in well-informed minds. Such minds, driven by the character of the so-called preaching from the place of worship, draw others away with them. The few who continue attendance, are those generally who can exert but little influence in molding society for good. The consequences are, the Bible is read but little; its great doctrines and duties are but little understood; sin, open and unblushing, goes unrebuked; its results, in time and eternity, are not declared; the immortality of the soul is scarcely thought of; responsibilities to God are wholly disregarded; God is blasphemed; Christ as a Saviour, despised, the soul lost.

5. An illiterate ministry only, existing in a place for any considerable time, hedges the way against a competent ministry. It does this by creating prejudice in the minds of those whose views and tastes have been formed by such a ministry, against a ministry competent to instruct in the things of God. Among this class are many truly pious persons, but their knowledge of the Bible, their general knowledge, indeed, is very limited, and their prejudice against an educated ministry and written sermons, very strong; and thus, though for different reasons, they are strongly opposed to the introduction of a suitable ministry, often much more stronger than are the opposers of godliness.

6. All these difficulties in the way of introducing an able ministry into our religious destitutions notwithstanding, such must be sent to them. It is a most pernicious mistake, that men of small abilities, of little education, however pious they may be, are competent instruments to do the mighty work of repairing the moral wastes of our State. If such instruments have not created these, they have often served to render them more difficult of repair.
